

Tiemann Signs 3 Major Bills

... Budget, Riot Act, Sales Taxes OK'd

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Gov. Norbert Tiemann Friday signed into law the $722 million operational budget bill, authorization for cities to enact sales taxes and the emergency riot control measure.

All three bills were enacted by the Legislature earlier in the day. (See stories, Page 9.)

Tiemann affixed his signature to the trio of major proposals Friday afternoon, according to the governor's office.

Since all three bills carried the emergency clause, they became law upon approval by the governor.

The big budget bill, LB1421, appropriates $295,766,849 in general fund money to operate state government during the 1969-71 fiscal biennium which begins Tuesday.

LB578, the sales tax measure, authorizes Nebraska municipalities to levy a tax of either one-half percent or one percent on top of the state sales tax rate.

The riot control bill, LB1381, arms state and local authorities with new powers to control civil disturbances.

It was rushed to final enactment over the objections of some senators who warned that the bill could escalate the disturbances in Omaha's Near North Side.

Renewed Effort Set On Higher Ed Panel

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

When the Legislature returns from its week-long Fourth of July holiday recess, it will face a renewed effort to propose a constitutional amendment creating a single governing board for higher education.

Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings revived the constitutional amendment approach in a proposed amendment to LB205, the pending bill to create a Coordinating Council on Higher Education.

The Legislature's Education Committee earlier rejected the constitutional amendment idea.

Single Board

Marvel's proposal would provide for single board administration of the University of Nebraska, state colleges, junior colleges and vocational-technical institutions.

In the meantime, before voters could consider the constitutional change in 1970, Marvel has proposed establishment of an advisory commission on higher education whose membership would include seven state senators.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff joined Marvel in sponsoring an amendment proposing creation of the interim commission.

Alternative

An alternative approach, proposed by Sen. John Knight of Lincoln, chief sponsor of LB205, would amend the original coordinating council plan.

NU's Board of Regents and the Board of Trustees for the Nebraska State Colleges are both constitutional bodies.

Thus, any effort to combine the two boards would require voter approval of a constitutional change.

Marvel has proposed a nine-member single board elected by districts.

Create Commission

Carpenter's interim arrangement proposal would create a 17-member commission, including representatives of the executive branch of state government and the affected institutions of higher education.

The commission would undertake a study of higher education and recommend steps toward better coordination and cooperation among the institutions.

Knight envisions a nine-member coordinating council which would submit its recommendations to the governor and the Legislature, as well as to the governing bodies of educational institutions.

LB205 was held up at the first stage of floor debate for consideration of proposed alternatives when lawmakers return to work July 7.

Hospital Strike Is Settled

Charleston, S.C. (AP) — A bitter 13-week strike by Negro nonprofessional workers against the Medical College of South Carolina Hospital ended Friday and there were indications agreement would be reached Saturday with the Charleston County Hospital which also was struck.

Dr. William McCord, president of the Medical College, said agreement was reached on two major issues remaining in the dispute after a day-long meeting with federal mediators.

McCord said the hospital would rehire all its employees, including 12 dismissed workers, and revise grievance procedure in accordance with state personnel division guidelines. These were the major remaining issues.

Wage Issue Dropped

Higher wages had been dropped as a major issue with announcement that starting pay for the affected workers would be raised July 1 to $1.60 an hour under an increase affecting all state employees.

This would apply also to workers at the County Hospital.

Earlier, bond was reduced from $50,000 to $5,000 for the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, who was jailed Friday on charges of riot and inciting to riot.

Arrangements had been made to have Abernathy, head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, released without bond to address a "victory" rally Friday night, but he said he would remain in jail until the strike is settled at the County Hospital.

Hunger Strike Ends

Abernathy, who figured prominently in demonstrations by the strikers, ended Friday a hunger strike he began last Sunday.

At the time, he said his hunger strike would continue until progress had been made in the dispute.

In Columbia, Gov. Robert McNair, expressed hope that settlement of the strike "will restore peace and calm" to Charleston.

FINCH BOWS TO PRESSURE

Politics Played With Medicine

... Knowles Won't Be Appointed

Washington (AP) — Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Robert H. Finch bowed Friday to stiff opposition and abandoned his five-month campaign to make Dr. John H. Knowles his chief lieutenant for health affairs.

Dr. Roger Egeberg of the University of Southern California was reportedly his compromise choice.

The successful fight against Knowles was waged by ruling elements or organized medicine and Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Egeberg, 65-year old dean of the USC School of Medicine flew to Washington on what his office said was an "emergency" basis and met with Finch late in the day.

In a 110-word statement handed to newsmen by aides without further comment, Finch thus gave up a personal campaign that had raised the possibility of a public split between President Nixon and one of his closest advisers.

The statement drew immediate criticism from some members of Congress who accused the administration of putting politics ahead of health care.

Ted: Plot Succeeds

"The conspiracy has succeeded," said Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, the Senate Democratic whip.

"Politics won," said Sen. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y.

A spokesman for the American Hospital Association said, "We learned with regret and dismay" of Finch's decision.

Finch said he would send another name — he did not say who — to the President forthwith.

Question Unanswered

The expectation was that he would reveal his choice at a news conference Saturday when it was certain he would be asked the one overriding question still unanswered — why he pushed the Knowles affair to the brink of crisis although well-informed sources say he was told by Nixon weeks ago to pick someone else.

At a news conference Friday in Boston where he is director of the Massachusetts General Hospital, the 43-year-old Knowles blamed a small group of members of the American Medical Association for blocking his nomination.

"In all modesty," he said, "this is the only group — the trustees of the AMA and AM-PAC — the AMA's Political Action Committee — in the country that was against Secretary Finch's decision to have me nominated."

Points Finger

In an earlier interview with the Long Island, N.Y., newspaper Newsday, Knowles accused the AMA of being "afraid I'd speak out and ask the right questions."

Such questions, he said, would concern the medical profession's responsibility for what he called "skyrocketing doctors' fees."

Dirksen, who publicly sided with the AMA in April, had no immediate comment, but the withdrawal of Finch's support for Knowles was as stunning a political victory for the 72-year-old minority leader from Illinois as it was, at least temporarily, a defeat for Finch.

Earlier in the year Dirksen claimed credit for blocking appointment of or removing several other administration officials.

Although the AMA never publicly stated opposition to Knowles, its top officials said privately Knowles was too hospital-oriented and had espoused too many causes, such as medicare, that are unpopular with organized medicine.

Father Of Slain Omaha Girl Appeals For End To Violence

Omaha (AP) — The father of a Negro girl slain by a policeman's bullet appealed Friday for an end to the violence that has flared for three straight nights since her death.

"I just wanted to plead with the people to stop what they are doing," said James Strong. "It's just something that couldn't be helped."

"There are other ways to settle things without violence."

Strong, 41, said he talked with residents of the largely Negro Near North Side neighborhood Wednesday but was unable to convince them they should stop the firebombings, looting and rock throwing.

Vivian Strong, 14, was shot in the back of the head as she ran through a public housing project Tuesday night. Patrolman James Loder, 30, who is white, has pleaded innocent to manslaughter charges.

'Under Control'

City officials said Friday morning racial unrest in the Negro section was "quite well under control" but National Guard troops remained on standby just in case.

Acting Fire Chief C. J.

Walther estimated total damage from firebombings through Thursday night reached just under $1 million.

As of Friday, 20 businesses and homes had been destroyed or damaged by fire, and an

Shots Reported Fired At Police

Omaha (UPI) Several shots were reported fired at police on Omaha's racially tense Near North Side early Saturday.

At least two instances of gunfire were reported by police officers shortly after midnight. Cruisers were ordered out of the immediate areas.

No injuries were reported. It marked the fourth straight night of unrest in the community.

other 22 buildings had been vandalized or looted. Twenty-one persons had reported assaults to police by Friday.

Fifteen persons were arrested Thursday night, five on felony charges, bringing to more than 60 the number of persons jailed between Tuesday and Thursday nights.

Firemen escorted by shotgun-toting policemen answered 14 fire calls in the Near North Side Thursday night, and two businesses were destroyed. A branch post office was vandalized and postal authorities boarded up the office.

Chief Andersen said 175 uniformed officers patrolled the streets Thursday night with 125 assigned to the troubled area. They got help from a number of Black Panther members who urged youths to stay off the streets.

Five young men identified as members of the Black Panthers were taken to the police station for questioning Thursday afternoon after police found two shotguns, a rifle and two cameras in their car.

They were released about 3 1/2 hours later and the unloaded weapons were returned to them. A spokesman for the county attorney's office said there is no Nebraska law prohibiting the carrying of guns so long as they are unloaded.

Youth-in-Action

Summer Activities Welcome New Students

(Editor's Note: This article begins a new regular feature for The Lincoln Star, "Youth In Action," which will be about local young people and which will appear each Saturday morning.)

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

For some 20 years, girls going to Lincoln High School have had the lonely and lost feelings of their first few weeks in high school dispelled with the aid of junior and senior coeds who provide summer orientation, informal parties and meetings.

The incoming sophomores and other new female students have an opportunity to become quite well acquainted with the school and several other girls before opening day in the fall.

That opportunity is provided by a group called "Coed Counselors" whose members are selected every spring from volunteers.

The counselors, 82 this summer, devote part of their time to contacting four or six new students in their neighborhoods and hosting a few social affairs for the girls.

Counselors generally meet with the new students five or six times during the summer in sessions that are primarily gabfests filled with questions about activities, courses, dress and teachers, according to the sponsors.

Some of the girls are taken through the school for a head start at finding their way around to lockers, cafeteria and classrooms.

Coed Counselors annually hosts a tea at Lincoln High for all girls new to the school the Sunday before classes begin.

Equipped with class schedules and room assignments, the girls are shown each place they will need to find during a school day — and where to get help if they get lost.

Counselors also are supposed to check up frequently on their counselees during the first few weeks of school to answer further questions and be of assistance when needed.

AFTER LINCOLN HIGH TOUR ... (left to right) Judy Zimmerman, Sue Dutton, Linda Taladay and Mary Larsen splash in pool. Sue and Linda will be new students.

The sponsors, Mrs. Don Flanagan, Miss Frances Buell and Mrs. Jamison Bourke, select Coed Counselors from applicants on the basis of location of residence, scholarship, dependability, cooperation, initiative and leadership.

The girls chosen for the club act during the summer without supervision, contacting new girls independently and making arrangements on their own for parties and meetings.

Stage Set For Fight Over Missile Plan

Washington (UPI) — The Senate Armed Services Committee Friday recommended approval of President Nixon's plan to deploy the Safeguard antiballistic missile system.

The recommendation came as the committee approved a $23 billion defense procurement bill.

The committee's action, by a 10-7 vote, set the stage for a long battle on the Senate floor on Nixon's plan to deploy the multibillion-dollar defensive weapon at two sites as a start.

It'll Be Close

Both pro- and anti-ABM forces in the Senate claim they have enough votes to carry the day. All agree the outcome will hinge on a very few votes.

Proponents argued, along with Nixon, that the ABM is necessary to keep the United States in a position to mount a devastating retaliatory strike should the Soviet Union fire its missiles at America.

Opponents argued that the ABM as planned would not work, would only spur a new round in the expensive arms race and would consume federal funds more vitally needed to save the nation from its domestic ills.

News Summary

(C) New York Times News Service

Saigon — The enemy continued its two-month long pressure on the allied camp at Ben Het in the central highlands of South Vietnam Friday. Despite almost continuous allied counter-artillery and hundreds of tons of bombs dropped by B52 bombers and other aircraft, the camp was hit by more than 100 rounds of artillery, mortar and rifle grenades. (More on Page 2.)

Seaway Commemorated

Montreal — Prime Minister Pierre Elliot Trudeau of Canada and President Nixon met to salute the bonds of friendship between their two countries and to commemorate the 10th anniversary of the St. Lawrence Seaway. (More on Page 10.)

Finch Surrenders

Washington — Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Robert H. Finch has given up his fight to persuade President Nixon to appoint Dr. John H. Knowles to the nation's top health post. (More on Page 1)

Honduras, El Salvador At Odds

Washington — A dispute resulting mainly from a soccer rivalry has caused the severing of diplomatic relations between two Central American neighbors, Honduras and El Salvador. Each nation has charged the other with violations of human rights and has asked for the Organization of American States to back it.

Stasinopoulos Ousted

Athens — The military government of Greece has ousted the president of the council of state, Michael Stasinopoulos, and accused the 25-man tribunal of challenging the regime's revolutionary authority. The tribunal was set up 40 years ago to protect citizens from arbitrary governmental actions.

Stage Set For ABM Fight

Washington — The stage was set for what is expected to be a prolonged floor battle when the Senate Armed Services Committee approved, 10 to 7 the deployment of the administration's Safeguard antiballistic missile defense system. (More on Page 1.)

Surtax Withholding Extended

Washington — The House approved the joint resolution that will continue the withholding tax deduction of the 10% income tax surcharge through the end of July. The ease with which the resolution passed the House, without even a roll call, was not taken as an indication of the fate of the extension of the surtax itself.

Desertion Change To Be Asked

Washington — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird will seek a change in military law to make one month's unauthorized absence evidence of intention to desert. The action was taken in answer to congressional criticism that the military has become too lenient on deserters. Under current military law, desertion is so hard to prove that most men tried to get off with the lesser charge of AWOL.

Aviators Keep Camp Supplied

Saigon (AP) — U.S. and South Vietnamese pilots, threading through monsoon storm clouds, maintained an aerial lifeline into embattled Ben Het Friday, slashing at enemy gun positions and dropping supplies by parachute.

The Viet Cong's clandestine radio boasted that the Green Beret camp still is surrounded, with the U.S.-advised South Vietnamese forces there forced into a "desperate position."

Some 445 enemy artillery rounds hit Ben Het Friday, nearly double the total for any previous 24-hour period by headquarters count.

U.S. B52s flew three more bombing missions near the camp early Saturday. The latest strikes ranged from six to eight miles southwest of the camp.

The U.S. Command in Saigon considers the Ben Het campaign a major test of how the South Vietnamese handle themselves against the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong. The Saigon government has expressed hope South Vietnamese forces can take on more of the fighting to relieve U.S. troops, 25,000 of whom are due to leave by the end of August.

Facts Belie Statement
The 700 defenders of the hilltop outpost — Vietnamese civilian irregulars, Green

Beret advisers and American artillery men — probably would agree with the enemy's assessment of the situation. Allied spokesmen have said the camp is not under siege, but the only supplies delivered there since Tuesday have been by air drop or helicopter.

Although figures were not available for Friday, U.S. Air Force twin-engined cargo planes dropped 40 tons of supplies into Ben Het Wednesday and Thursday. At the same time, fighter-bombers protecting the slow cargo planes hit enemy positions with 17 tons of bombs, napalm and rockets.

A company of fresh South Vietnamese irregulars also was flown in.

Only two small truck convoys have punched their way into Ben Het from Dak To, 10 miles to the southeast, and they made it Monday and Tuesday while nearly 2,000 government soldiers were operating along the road. Despite the heavy security, the first convoy was attacked both going in and coming out.

Road Cut Again
The government troops were pulled back after their four-day, "road clearing" operation, and U.S. aerial spotters report the road again has been cut in several places.

The North Vietnamese army command, believed to have some 3,000 infantrymen committed to the Ben Het battle, has not made any major ground attack so far but has relied on bombardment.

Nearly 4,500 South Vietnamese infantrymen, rangers and commandos are in the area around Ben Het but they have failed to dislodge enemy units operating within 300 yards of the camp.

East Kansas Rivers Flood

Kansas City (AP) — Rivers in western Missouri and eastern Kansas, swollen by more than a week of heavy rains, sloped over their banks Friday into urban areas and over prime farmland.

Several highways were cut by rising water, which in some areas approached record readings set in the deluge of 1951.

Rainfall measured unofficially at depths reaching 21 inches fell on parts of eastern Kansas Thursday night. Kansas authorities reported flooding of lowlands and some homes around Strong City, Ottawa and Emporia.

Tornadoes and strong winds inflicted other damage in Kansas City and St. Joseph, Mo., as well as at several communities in eastern Kansas.

Authorities in Ottawa, Kan., closed the big steel flood gates Friday on the bridge crossing the Marais des Gynes River, forcing traffic to use another road linking the north and south parts of town.

The flood gates and a large dike kept the rising waters out of downtown Ottawa, but several thousand acres of wheat and soybeans near the community were submerged.

Apollo 11 Countdown Rehearsal Continues; 'Astromonk' Selected

Cape Kennedy, Fla. (UPI) — While Apollo 11 underwent a crucial countdown rehearsal Friday for man's first moon landing flight, scientists selected a monkey for launch Saturday night on a 30-day earth orbiting research mission.

Scientists said the 14-pound "astromonk" should yield more information on how prolonged spaceflight affects life than all America's manned spaceflights put together.

It is scheduled to be launched in a 1,536-pound biosatellite designed to maintain an air-like atmosphere at sea level pressure, provide day-night lighting and duplicate most other conditions the animal is used to except for the pull of gravity.

Ten miles north of the monkey's launch complex, the technicians put the 36-story Apollo 11 space machine through the first day of a six-day countdown trial for the July 16 launch of Neil A. Armstrong, Michael Collins and Edwin E. Aldrin.

The exercise began Friday and is scheduled to wind up with a simulated blastoff Wednesday.

The test is designed to uncover any problems that might stall the real countdown and because of that virtually every launch step will be taken, including pumping 784,000 gallons of frigid liquid hydrogen and oxygen into the booster.

Most of Friday's operation was devoted to checks of individual systems in the towering rocket-spacecraft combination. A spokesman said the work was proceeding smoothly.

Armstrong, Collins and Aldrin again rehearsed critical portions of the eight-day expedition.

How's That For Speedy Service?

Riga, Mich. (AP) — Things got so hot in Harold Wright's clothes dryer the other day that 30 pieces of fire equipment and more than 100 firemen, policemen and volunteers from Ohio and Michigan answered the call.

Here's how it happened:

Wright, who lives west of Sylvania, Ohio, just inside Michigan, called the Sylvania Fire Department to report the fire. Sylvania firemen, realizing the fire was in Michigan, called Lenawee County authorities, who relayed the call.

The alarm, meanwhile was intercepted by authorities in Richfield Township, Ohio, and they dispatched a few trucks. Blissfield, Mich., heard the SOS and sent help, but also called the Riga Township Fire Department because the Wright farm is in Riga Township.

The fire was out when the first trucks arrived. Damage was estimated at $250.

Army To Burn Poisonous Gas

Washington (AP) — The Pentagon said Friday the Army will burn 12,643 tons of poisonous mustard gas at U.S. military installations as recommended by the National Academy of Sciences last week.

Burning was proposed by the scientific group which suggested alternatives to the Army's controversial plan to dump 27,000 tons of obsolete chemical munitions, among them the mustard gas, into the Atlantic Ocean.

Tipster Fund Setup

London (UPI) — A large security firm is setting up a special fund to pay tipsters who tell them of plans to hold up armored cars.

Tiemann: Guard Is On Alert Ready To Go Into Omaha

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann said Friday that National Guardsmen would remain on alert through Monday ready to move into Omaha's troubled Near North Side if requested by Omaha authorities.

Tiemann said guardsmen have been moved into armories at Omaha, Nebraska City, Fremont and Wahoo, but declined to divulge the number of troops.

Support personnel are also on alert at Lincoln and Beatrice, he said.

"The situation (in Omaha) is better than the night before last," the governor said in a news conference. He commended Omaha officials for their rapid handling of the situation.

"There is also a tremendous sense of responsibility from the Omaha community, which is attempting to keep troublemakers at a minimum and smooth out the situation."

Mayor Lauded

Tiemann commended Mayor Eugene Leahay for "rapid handling" of the shooting of a 14-year-old Negro girl, Vivian Strong by an Omaha policeman, John L. Loder, 30, during a burglary investigation.

Manslaughter charges have been preferred against Loder in the shooting, which precipitated the fire bombing of five business places in Omaha's predominately Negro area.

On another subject, Tiemann said he "still feels" his $15 million capital construction budget is a reasonable one.

"I think the Legislature should have passed my construction budget with my priorities," he said in commenting on the some $10 million added by the Legislature in first round approval.

Can Afford

Tiemann said the state has construction needs in addition to those he recommended, but "my recommended budget was one which we (the state) can afford."

"The attitude (of the Legislature) may be to put money into bricks and mortar and forget about people," he said. "I think it's unwise to take money away from other programs that were started for people."

Tiemann said he may veto some items in the $295 million operational budget, but declined to specify any item.

The Budget Committee recommended to the Legislature a two-year operational budget of $17 million less than proposed by Tiemann, and the Unicameral gave it final approval Friday.

Tiemann also announced the appointment of Dale R. Rist of Lincoln to the Advisory Committee for the Departments of Public Welfare and Public Institutions.

Rist, a local savings and loan association executive, succeeds Mrs. Kara Lee Eikleberry of Lincoln, who recently resigned as commission chairman. He will serve an unexpired term to January 1970.

Policemen Injured As Violence Breaks Out

By United Press International

Eleven policemen were wounded by shotgun sniper fire Friday in Kokomo, Ind., when a watermelon party in a predominantly Negro neighborhood erupted into a round of rock-throwing, window-smashing and looting.

Police restored order before dawn after about 200 Indiana State Police swarmed into the north central Indiana industrial city for possible riot duty.

None of the wounded Kokomo policemen were injured seriously. They were raked by buckshot as they sought to stem looting and vandalism in a 10-block area of stores and homes on the city's near North Side.

The wounded policemen included Kokomo Police Chief Raymond Kellar and Lt. Rex Dillman, commanding officer of the Lafayette district of Indiana state police.

State Police Supt. Robert K.

Konkle said the trouble began when "intoxicated persons" began to fight and break watermelons at a street party near a community center.

"The situation deteriorated into a rock-throwing and window-breaking episode in the Colored business community," Konkle's statement said. "Store fronts were broken in and some looting developed."

When a small force of police moved in, Konkle said, Negroes "opened fire on the police officers with shotguns." He said police "returned the fire but it is not known if any persons were wounded."

Most Returning Reservists To Be Excused From Drills

Washington (AP) — Most of the 20,000 National Guardsmen and Army reservists on active duty, including all who have served in Vietnam, will be excused from drills after they return to civilian life, the Pentagon said Friday.

All the guardsmen and reservists mobilized last year are due to be out of uniform by mid-December.

Those being given a break, as Pentagon officials describe it, are men who have reserve obligations remaining.

Those enlisted men who have completed a total of 24 months of active duty will, upon request, be assigned to the Ready Reserve manpower pool for the remainder of a six-year statutory obligation.

This means they will not be required to serve in units, attend drills, or go to summer camp.

Credited toward the 24 months of active duty will be all periods in which the serviceman was in uniform, including training.

Gate Opens At 'Village'

... Latest Stuhr Complex Addition

By CRAIG CALLAWAY
 Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Grand Island — Long in planning, delayed because of a flood, the Land of the Prairie Pioneer, an "outdoor museum" at the Stuhr Museum of Prairie Pioneer, has opened for public viewing.

The "village" is still far from complete, but tourists may now view homes, a bank, post office and other "restorations" from the late 1800s or early 1900s.

It is the latest addition to the Stuhr complex, which opened with the museum dedication in July, 1967.

"Outdoor" buildings now furnished and open to the public include the Oconto railroad station, built in about 1895; the Kenesaw Bank, with interior fixtures from the Nuckolls County Bank, 1883; the Washington Township Hall, 1883; the original Grand Island post office, about 1860 with fixtures from the Merna Post Office, 1885 to 1915; the cottage where actor Henry Fonda was born in Grand Island, built in 1883; the Gibson Country Schoolhouse 1880's; the Hampton Danish Country Church, 1888; three barns housing horse drawn equipment and blacksmith items; and the two-story Milisen house from Grand Island, 1879 and furnished to 1895.

Almost all of the buildings and furnishings were donated to the museum, according to director Dr. James Shaeffer. In the case of the Fonda Cottage, Dr. Shaeffer said, the actor paid $9,000 to have it restored according to the period of his birth in 1904 and gave it to the museum.

A total 30 buildings eventually will be opened at the outdoor display, hopefully within two years, Dr. Shaeffer said.

The buildings that are open now would have been ready earlier, were it not for the Grand Island floods in 1967.

Next things to be completed will include a print shop, tavern, harness shop and a general store, Dr. Shaeffer said, and several railroad cars sitting at the Oconto station will be restored.

The outdoor village will be open during summers only, Dr. Shaeffer said, with closing probably after the Labor Day weekend.

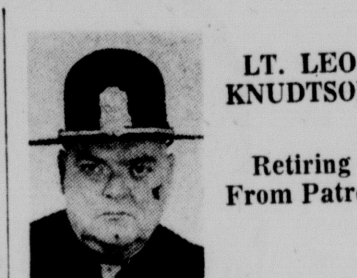

Shuttle buses leave the museum about every 15 minutes to take viewers to the outdoor display. Also included on the bus trip is a stop at the metal building, housing the John T. Thiessen farm machinery and antique auto collection, which has been open since last summer.

Lt. Knudtson, One Of Original State Patrolmen, Is Retiring This Week

Scottsbluff (P) — Lt. Leo Knudtson, one of the original State Safety Patrol troopers when the force was formed in 1937, retires Sunday, his 60th birthday anniversary.

Knudtson, who said he joined the patrol by answering an advertisement in a newspaper, has been state criminal investigator for the Panhandle District, headquartered in Scottsbluff, since 1944.

He served in the Hastings, Grand Island, North Platte, Lexington and Columbus offices before transferring to Scottsbluff.

He was promoted to corporal and sergeant in the traffic enforcement division and received the promotion to lieutenant in 1951. The Omaha native, whose father served as a detective on the Omaha police force, said he believes the State Patrol should expand its criminal investigation division.

The patrol should be developed into more of a state police force, he said.

Lincoln Human Rights Commission members met Friday with Police Chief Joseph Carroll and other police officers to discuss police treatment of minority group individuals.

The discussion centered on complaints from minority group members concerning police treatment.

The meeting was not public.

3-Car Crash Kills Omahan

Omaha (P) — Norman Carpenter, 35, of Omaha was injured fatally Thursday night when the car in which he was riding was involved in a three-car collision.

Police said Donald Sims, 38, was booked on suspicion of motor vehicle homicide. Carpenter was a passenger in the Sims auto, police said.

Carpenter died in a hospital after the Sims car ran into a parked car which was pushed into a second parked car, police said.

Officers said Sims and Julreme McCarter, 26, suffered cuts.

The death raised Nebraska's 1969 traffic fatality toll to 162, compared with 204 at this time last year.

Stansbery's Body Is Found In Lake

Ogallala (P) — The body of a man missing since last Saturday night was found floating in Lake McConaughy Friday.

Authorities said he was Dean Stansbery, 44, son of Ogallala rancher Willard Stansbery.

The body was found about 150 yards from where Stansbery's boat was on the shore. A heavy storm was reported at the lake at the time Stansbery was found to be missing.

Ladder Fall Kills Bennington Sailor

Villefranche, France (P) — A sailor aboard the cruiser U.S.S. Galveston, anchored at this Riviera port, fell to his death Thursday from a shipboard ladder. He was identified as Edwin Bowes Markmann, 28, of Bennington, Neb.

Lincoln Youth Beaten In Omaha

A 20-year-old Lincoln youth Curt Clyne of 1625 So. 77th, a victim of disturbances Wednesday night on Omaha's Near North Side, is home from the hospital and recovering from a broken nose and gashes on the head.

Clyne, a summer school student at Creighton University, was pulled out of his car near an Omaha drive-in about 10 p.m. Wednesday.

At the time, he had not even heard about the death of Vivian Strong, 14, which apparently caused the outbreak.

Four Negro youths, who he thought were probably high school students, punched him in the stomach and head. According to his mother, Mrs. John C. Clyne, all he saw were feet and fists coming at him.

She said he managed to get free, but was unable to start the car. By this time, the youths had taken a crowbar and school books out of the car and then dragged him out again and began hitting him with the crowbar.

About 20 Negroes stood around and watched, Mrs. Clyne reported her son as saying. One Negro woman with a child kept yelling "Kill him. Kill that white man."

Clyne didn't fight back, according to his mother, because he thought they would kill him. He screamed for help, but none came. After a while, they left him and he crawled back to the car and managed to drive to St. Joseph Hospital, where X-rays were taken and his family contacted.

He was transferred to Bryan Memorial Hospital and was released Friday.

Injuries besides the broken nose and gashes, include a heel mark on his chin and a shoe print on his chest.

Clyne's father, Dr. John C. Clyne, is at Bryan Memorial Hospital recovering from a heart attack and should be released in about a week, his wife said.

Approximately 150 youths from Nebraska and Wyoming were registered Friday night in Lincoln for the Lutheran Youth Conference.

The three-day conference will cover the major questions being raised by young people today on war, racial problems and drug addiction.

Friday was reserved for registration and initial meetings of scheduled groups which are slated for discussion to be held during Saturday and Sunday.

The conference will close with a prayer meeting at 1 p.m. Sunday.

Widow Losing 3 Omaha Buildings Is 'Just Bitter'

... Insurance Cancelled Before Fire

By RICK AKIN
 Associated Press Writer

Omaha (P) — "Right now, I'm just bitter."

So spoke an Italian immigrant's widow after the three buildings she owned in a predominantly Negro neighborhood were firebombed during racial violence Wednesday. The buildings were destroyed.

Mrs. Dorothy Pomodoro said she learned after the fires that her property insurance earlier had been cancelled. "I just took it for granted I was covered," she said.

Mrs. Pomodoro owned a shoe store and buildings housing a delivery service and apartments. They were three of six buildings wiped out along a 10-block stretch of the Near North Side business district. The owners of all the buildings are white.

"I just don't understand the people out there," said Mrs. Pomodoro. "My husband started his shoe repair business there 45 years ago and even helped some people get into business."

"Never Had Trouble"

"We never, never had any trouble, and now this. I'm at a loss."

The violence broke out after a 14-year-old Negro girl, Vivian Strong, was fatally shot by a white policeman Tuesday night. Patrolman James Lodger, 30, was charged with manslaughter and has pleaded innocent.

Mrs. Pomodoro said her son Frank was born on the Near North Side and always "felt free" to walk in the area. "But now he wants to leave town," she said.

Another victim of the fire-bombings, Tony Monico, tromped through the remains of his diesel truck repair shop, salvaging a few hand tools.

The fire destroyed four trucks and 12 diesel engines.

What are Monico's plans: "Go back to work." Where? "Someplace else."

Ex-Ice Plant

The diesel garage formerly was an ice manufacturing plant which was equipped with pipes capable of pumping water at great pressure.

Monico and fellow mechanics tried to get to the building the night of the fire in hopes of extinguishing the flames, but they were stopped by police barricades, and the building was leveled.

Ben Blatt gathered from first reports that his grocery store had only been vandalized, but the morning newspaper listed his business as one of those that had been firebombed.

"I went to the store, just stood there and looked, and then went by my insurance man," Blatt said.

Blatt said he purchased the store 19 years ago because it was "a good spot" to locate. "And it was a very good spot for 19 years," he said. "I got along real good with those people."

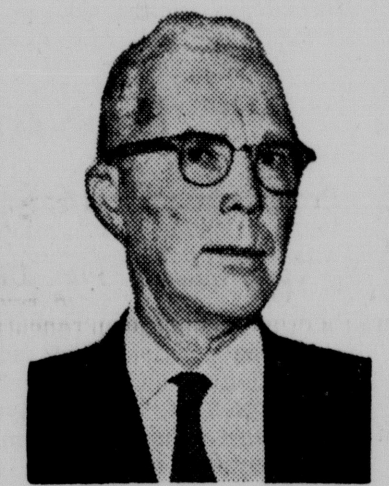

'Very Tragic'

Mayor Eugene Leahy, after surveying the damage, said "it is very tragic to lose businesses to a few who loot and destroy."

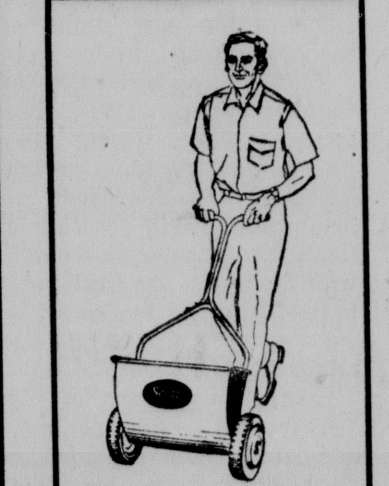

"The businessmen seem to be the fall guys," said Robert K. Hill, past president of the Omaha Mid-City Business and Professional Men's Association. "The businessmen feel the brunt of the wrath because their investments are there."

All was not lost for Mrs. Pomodoro. She also manages a hamburger restaurant in west Omaha.

"Thank God for that," she said.

Court Upholds 2-Point Traffic Penalty

By Associated Press

The State Supreme Court held Friday that driving a motor vehicle without an operator's license costs the driver two points under the point system, even if state law does not specifically refer to this offense.

The finding affirmed the judgment of the Scotts Bluff County District Court in a suit brought by Nell Wilson against Larry C. Johns, state motor vehicles director.

The plaintiff had her license revoked for acquiring 12 traffic violation points within a two-year period. The case turned on the question of whether driving without a driver's license is an offense for which points may be assessed.

Point System

The plaintiff argued that the purpose of the point system is to remove dangerous drivers from the road, that lack of an operator's license is not evidence of negligence, and that assessing points for lack of a license does not contribute to the public's protection.

The Supreme Court noted that state law makes reference to "all other traffic violations" in a section detailing when two points shall be assessed.

"By referring to 'all other traffic violations' for which reports are required, except parking, muffler and truck overloading violations, we think the Legislature intended to include the offense of operation without a Nebraska motor vehicle operator's license . . .," the opinion said.

Omaha Disturbances

In a case related to disturbances on Omaha's North Side last year, the Supreme Court held Friday that a loaded pistol locked in a glove compartment must be considered to be concealed

"on or about the person" of the driver.

The court made the point in affirming the Douglas County District Court conviction of Nathaniel Goodwin Jr. on charges of possessing a fire bomb and carrying a concealed weapon. He was fined $100 on the weapon charge and was sentenced to one to three years in the Penal Complex for possessing a fire bomb.

Goodwin was arrested the night of March 5, 1968, while police were watching for possible attempts to start fires on Omaha's North Side. In other opinions Friday, the court:

—Affirmed the Banner County District Court's judgment in dismissing a suit brought by Banner County against Shaw Young and others to establish the valid existence of a two-mile long road referred to in county commissioner minutes in 1887. The Supreme Court held the county had not met the burden of proof necessary to show that the alleged road legally exists.

—Reversed the Nemaha County District Court and ordered a new trial of an auto accident injury suit brought by Daniel E. O'Connor against Howard W. Kientz. The suit grew out of an accident in Auburn in 1961. The lower court found in favor of Kientz, but the Supreme Court held that Kientz was guilty of negligence as a matter of law and O'Connor's motion for a directed verdict on that issue should have been sustained.

—Upheld the Douglas County District Court in holding the Nebraska Trust Deeds Act, enacted by the 1965 Legislature, to be constitutional. The test came in a suit brought by the Blair Co. against American Savings Co.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Needless Thrift Can Spoil Life

By ROBERT PETERSON

We all practice odd forms of economy. Even those who have money to burn are sometimes obstinate and penurious when it comes to indulging a whim or a wish they consider extravagant.

Sometime ago I visited an affluent old gentleman who took enormous pride in his estate. On the rolling lawn near the terrace the emerald turf rose in a strange little mound and I asked what it was.

"I used to have a fine big elm there, but five years ago it died of Dutch Blight so I had it cut down and hauled away by a fellow who charged me $200. Then the scoundrel wanted an extra $100 to dig out the stump. I told him for that kind of money I'd keep the stump and cover it with dirt."

Well, the old gentleman died sometime later and when I stopped to pay my respects to his widow I happened to glance out the window and observed that the little mound of earth was gone.

"Yes," she said, "after fretting over it all those years he finally gave in and had the man come and remove the stump. But he didn't have long to enjoy it for he passed on two weeks later."

Moral: If you are depriving yourself of some little pleasure which you can afford but which your overly-thrifty nature keeps you from satisfying — don't wait too long.

There is an ancient conflict between youth and age, which causes the young to laugh and defy the criticisms of elders. It is not until age has brought the seasoning of experience and wisdom that the individual may become aware that the criticisms were sound and justified.

A woman writes, "Our backyard is a great joy to us as we have a nice lawn with shrubs and friendly birds and squirrels. But yesterday a neighbor lad of 15 climbed over the wall, stepped on a new shrub we had planted, and, with a small pellet gun, casually shot a squirrel sipping water from the bird bath.

"I rushed from the house with my blood pressure soaring and ordered him to leave. He just laughed and climbed back over the fence. When I called the police they brushed it off saying boys will be boys. And when I went to see the boy's mother she listened but gave her son a look which said, 'Stay away from the old crab after this.' How is an older person expected to react to something like this?"

Well, it's an imperfect world and this means young people will be cruel, rash, and inconsiderate at times and that parents and police will fail to use necessary discipline. I think older people should stand up for their rights, but they must also take a philosophical attitude and view the injustices of others as evidence of imperfections in human society.

If you would like a booklet, "Staying Attractive in Later Years," write to Robert Peterson, c/o Dispatch Letter Service, 25 W. 45th St., New York, N.Y. 10018, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and 10 cents to cover handling costs.

Ah, yes! GOD Lives

We live in a wonderful world full of purpose and values. All this requires a Purposer, a Creator. The more we discover the universe, the more we are sure there is a creative artist at work. Visit the mountains, stand by the sea, witness the storm, and we become aware of a power greater than man. It is God and He is not dead as the man said. The sun rises in a pattern and the stars obey a scheme. We bow to the law of gravity and enjoy a world controlled by dependable systems. We believe in natural law . . . God's law. Without a great creative power we could not have had Moses, Mohammed, Buddha and Jesus Christ. When we put Creative Power, Wisdom and Righteousness together, belief in God is the result. He is at the controls. God is not dead.

'A MILLION DEATHS LATER'...

Biafrans Committed To Defense Of Their Dream

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Lloyd Garrison, former senior correspondent in Africa for the New York Times, has made a number of visits to Biafra, where more than a million persons have died in two years. This is the last of six articles.)

©The New York Times

By LLOYD GARRISON

Owerri, Biafra — There are many critics of Biafran leader Odumegwu Ojukwu abroad who contend that he suffers from delusion, that if he really cared for his people he would admit that Biafra is doomed to eventual defeat and that the time is long overdue for him to negotiate an end to the agony, no matter what the terms.

This view presupposes that the decision to fight on or surrender rests solely in Ojukwu's hands. If he were to stand up tomorrow and renounce secession, would Biafrans blindly follow him? A few unquestionably would. But the decision is not Ojukwu's alone. He does not rule over an abstraction.

His critics in Lagos and elsewhere see him as a black Hitler, a clever, ruthless man hurried by a small clique of sycophants who share his lust for power.

To the critics, the average Ibo didn't seek secession, much less war and the starvation of his children; the Ibo they say, has been manipulated and the war and suffering prolonged by what Nigerian Gen. Yakubu Gowon calls "Ojukwu and his rebel gang."

But if this were the case, Ojukwu and his "gang" would have been overthrown long ago.

Far more than perhaps even Ojukwu appreciates the average Biafran has quietly committed himself to the defense of a dream that is a direct by-product of the war itself.

The dream is rooted in the awareness that for the first time, a black African minority has defied not only a far more populous and powerful central government — Nigeria — but, by extension, London, Moscow and Cairo as well. By all rights, Biafra should have folded up under this kind of pressure months ago.

'Left Alone'
Inherent in the dream is the phrase you hear over and over: "We just want to be left alone." By itself, this is hardly a profound sentiment and certainly conjures up no image of an earthly paradise to come.

But to Chinua Achebe, the novelist who so brilliantly chronicled the breakdown of traditional Ibo society under the impact of colonial rule, Biafra's going it alone is the first step toward the realization of a truly indigenous black society, a society born free of foreign advisers, foreign intrigue, foreign values.

'Discredited Way'

Nigeria, on the other hand, symbolizes for Achebe and many other Biafrans not only massacres and broken promises, but also a discredited way of life, a life propped up by foreign aid and foreign advice, a life of continuing corruption, rigged elections, tribal infighting for the spoils of power — of business as usual.

Achebe's insights were slow to sharpen, just as it took time for Biafran scientists to realize that they could make rockets and for the army — without benefits of Che Guevara's handbook on guerrilla war — to learn that an outnumbered and ill-equipped underdog does not win a war by following old rules acquired at Sandhurst.

It is this sense of Biafra emerging as a new symbol of African "black power" that has attracted to it the envy and suspicion of other Africans, not to mention white onlookers from abroad.

In short, Biafra's struggle is not merely a civil war; it has evolved into a clash between old and new Africa, between the post-independence status quo and a revolutionary break with the assumptions of the past.

'Balkanization' Argued
One of these assumptions, vigorously preached by United States and British diplomats, is that Biafra must be crushed or it will lead to the "Balkanization" of the continent along tribal lines — the old domino theory.

To which Ojukwu replies:

"far from being a threat to African unity, Nigeria's breakup should serve as a constructive warning to other states to take their ethnic problems seriously and seek new formulas for preserving unity with justice. Ethnic separatist movements in Africa will not proliferate solely because Biafra exists. Nor will ethnic tensions disappear overnight if Biafra fails."

For Ojukwu, the domino myth received its greatest setback when Biafra won recognition from Tanzania's Julius Nyerere and Zambia's Kenneth Kaunda. Both are nationalists with impeccable credentials and are ardent proponents of continental African unity. And both lead countries deeply divided by tribal and religious tensions.

The Lincoln Star 7
Saturday, June 28, 1969

Ojukwu's chances of justifying Nyerere's and Kaunda's confidence in his cause are still dim. Peace at the negotiating table has never been a more distant prospect; Biafra is hardly in a position to bargain, and the Nigerians are still confident of a quick military victory, with no need for compromise.

So the immediate question in Biafra remains the same: will one live to see another day? Many unquestionably will not. The gap between Biafra's dream and that dream's fulfillment remains to be settled where it began, on the battlefield.

State Seeking 156 With Tax Refunds Coming

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The State Tax Commissioner's Office is looking for 156 taxpayers who have state income tax refunds coming to them.

Tax Commissioner Murrell McNeil said Friday refund checks were mailed to these taxpayers, but were returned undelivered by the Post Office because of lack of a forwarding address.

McNeil said his staff has used all normal means to locate these taxpayers, including calls to their last known employers.

2,700 Held

The commissioner said some 2,700 returns are being held because of discrepancies, but most of the taxpayers involved had received at least two letters requesting information leading to final processing of their returns.

Among the problems, he said, is getting 623 taxpayers to forward a signature certificate in lieu of signing their return, which they overlooked.

He said 2,032 taxpayers have been advised their returns are being held because they have not supplied schedules or attached the proper W-2 forms.

"Oddly enough," McNeil said, "a substantial number of these taxpayers have refunds."

Makes Appeal

McNeil appealed to the taxpayers to furnish the information correcting the deficiencies on their returns so final processing can be done to close taxpayers' accounts for the 1968 tax year.

McNeil said some 600,000 individual income tax returns have been processed since January.

WIDE WORLD OF ENTERTAINMENT

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Despite Sen. Edward Danner's warning that it may "incline and escalate" the civil disturbances in Omaha's North Side, the Legislature Friday gave swift 41-6 final approval to emergency riot control legislation.

Danner, a resident of the North Side, urged lawmakers not to act hastily in approving the bill.

But senators voted 6-37 against a motion to delay action on the measure until after their Thursday July holiday recess, then refused, on a 15-30 vote, to return the bill to select file for an amendment.

Sen. Richard Proud of Omaha hoped to remove from LB1381 a provision which decrees that any person who participates with others in disorderly conduct with intent to commit a misdemeanor is guilty of riot.

Penalty Provision
Conviction on such a charge would carry a penalty of up to $1,000 in fines or a year's imprisonment.

Proud said the "riot" charge should be preserved for persons participating in disorderly conduct with the intent to commit a felony.

But the misdemeanor provision is not reasonable, he argued.

LB1381 is a bill "essentially written by policemen" and one which does not protect citizens' rights, he said.

Should Set Example
Danner told his colleagues that the Legislature should set an example by acting "with calm and wisdom."

Rushing the bill to enactment "does not contribute to the right kind of environment," he suggested.

"The situation is bad and ugly. Hasty action certainly would inflame and escalate a bad situation."

Danner said the governor is not without authority to act now.

Sen. Wayne Schreurs of Seward, who offered the motion to delay action on the bill, said hurried action may only "fan the fire" in Omaha.

"We have laws that are already being used," Schreurs noted. "This may only create an even worse situation."

Reason For Vote
Schreurs voted in favor of enacting the bill only to place himself in position later to ask the Legislature to reconsider its action.

Voting against enactment were Sens. Danner, Don Hanna Jr. of Brownlee, Proud, J. James Waldron of Callaway, Jerome Warner of Waverly and William Wylie of Elgin.

LB1381 would permit local or state authorities to declare a state of emergency under which law enforcement officials could enforce a curfew, ban the sale of liquor and guns, restrict sale of gasoline, prohibit the use of bullhorns and close places of public assembly.

Strict penalties would be imposed for offenses ranging from riot to unlawful assembly. The bill also defines disorderly conduct, and prohibits assault upon emergency personnel.

In a last-ditch effort to delay enactment of the bill, Schreurs asked lawmakers to withhold delivery of the measure to the governor for a day.

His motion was scuttled on a 3-30 vote.

City Sales Tax Bill Passed

With just enough votes to permit the bill to take effect immediately upon the signature of the governor, the Legislature Friday approved a measure authorizing Nebraska cities to levy a sales tax.

The bill, LB578, gained 33-12 final approval.

One Lincoln senator, Harold Simpson, voted against the measure. And Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly announced that he too would have opposed the bill had he been in the chamber when the final vote was taken.

The bill authorizes municipalities to enact a sales tax of either one-half percent or one percent.

Answer To Pleas
Its enactment will apparently stand as the 1969 Legislature's answer to city pleas for additional sources of revenue.

Whereas cities have been limited to the property tax as a major source of revenue, they will not have access to the sales tax path which the state itself began to tread only two years ago.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, chief sponsor of LB578, has made it clear that he will not support additional state financial aid to cities in view of their new authority to raise additional revenue for themselves.

The vote on LB578:

For: Batchelder, Bloom, Budd, Burbach, Carpenter, Clark, Duls, Hanna, Haebebrock, Holmquist, Johnson, Keves, Knight, Kremer, Luedtke, Mahoney, Moulton, Moulton, Orme, Pedersen, Proud, Reynolds, Robinson, Schmitt, Schreurs, Skarda, Stull, Swanson, Svas, Waldron, Walliwey, Whitney.

Against: Carstens, Craft, Danner, Harsh, Kennedy, Kokes, Nore, Simpson, Waldo, Wentz, Wylie, Zisbarr.

Not Voting: Elrod.

Absent: Klaver, Warner, Wiltse.

It was one of seven bills passed Friday.

Juvenile Division
Among the other measures sent to the governor was a bill to set up a separate division of juvenile delinquency within the State Institutions Department.

Under the bill, which is the result of a legislative interim committee study of Nebraska's rising crime rate, the division would be responsible for the administration of the Kearney Boys Training School and the Lincoln Training School at Geneva.

The division would also be responsible for juvenile probation, foster homes for juvenile offenders and instituting programs for the prevention of juvenile delinquency.

ADC Requirements
Another bill passed would modify the requirements for children to be eligible for aid to dependent children (ADC) welfare payments, including the removal of Nebraska's residency requirements.

The elimination of the residency requirement was a result of the recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling which said such restrictions are unconstitutional.

The bill also empowers the state welfare director to establish a work incentive program for welfare recipients. Adoption of this provision also was necessary so that Nebraska would not lose approximately $3 million a year in welfare funds.

Bills passed on final reading in the Legislature Friday (Emergency clause):

LB514 (Carpenter) — Removing the one-year residency requirement for welfare assistance in Nebraska, and variously revising related law. (E) 40-0.

LB578 (Carpenter) — Adopting a Local Option Revenue Act, authorizing any incorporated municipality to impose a sales tax of either one-half percent or one percent, collected with state taxes but returned to municipality. (E) 33-12.

LB603 (Carstens, Simpson, Danner, Skarda, Bloom) — Establishing a Division of Juvenile Delinquency within the Department of Public Institutions. 40-0.

LB1198 (Orme, Mahoney) — Revising qualifications for members of Board of Registration for Sanitarians, and variously revising related law. (E) 42-0.

LB1381 (Government Committee) — Making illegal and punishable certain rioting, unlawful assembly, disorderly conduct and other acts; providing when a state of emergency may be called and defining steps which may be taken in emergencies. (E) 41-6.

LB1402 (Banking Committee) — Providing an alternative to time price differential disclosure statement in installment sales, to correspond with new federal truth in lending legislation, effective July 1, 1969. (E) 40-0.

LB1421 (Budget Committee) — Appropriating $295,766,849, general funds to finance operation of state government agencies and departments in 1969-71 biennium. (E) 43-1.

TIME WAS . . .

WHEN MANY DRUGS WERE UNKNOWN

Not so very long ago, a doctor couldn't order a drug such as penicillin — it didn't exist. Today these drugs are right at his disposal.

By United Press International

With just three days to go before the July 1 deadline, the Legislature sent to the governor Friday a $295 million general fund budget bill — the largest in Nebraska's 101-year history.

The measure, which Budget Committee Chairman Richard Marvel of Hastings said can be funded with a 2.25% sales tax and a 10% income tax, was approved on a 43-1 vote.

The two-year spending blueprint is almost $17 million less than was recommended by Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann when he presented his operational budget message to the Legislature last January.

But, it is about 15% more than the current spending level.

Still to come are the capital construction and improvements budget, which now totals $26 million, and a "supplemental" appropriations bill.

The supplemental appropriations measure is the document most lawmakers are depending on to provide money for their special projects. Its eventual size is still undetermined.

The six largest state agencies account for the great bulk of the operating package, with $252 million being allocated to them.

NU Share
The University of Nebraska was earmarked to receive $82 million during the 1969-71 biennium, a 48% increase over its present spending level.

The State Education Department would receive the second largest share of $62.5 million.

The State Institutions Department was allocated $52 million, including $2.6 million for upgrading the Beatrice State Home for the Mentally Retarded.

The fourth highest amount, $34 million, would go to the State Welfare Department, a 28.4% increase from its current spending level.

The four state colleges at Kearney, Peru, Chadron and Wayne were allocated a total of $13.4 million, up $2.6 million from the current biennium.

State Patrol
The State Patrol was allotted $9.6 million, an increase of $1.1 million from its current spending levels.

The spending document also provides for five per cent annual salary increases for personnel in most of the state agencies.

However, for the first time, the Legislature has earmarked the amount of money any agency could spend for salaries on a yearly basis, thus limiting the governor's prerogatives on what he can pay the personnel in agencies directly under his control.

Sen. Edward Danner of Omaha voted against the bill. Not voting were Sens. Jules Burbach of Crofton, Fred Carstens of Beatrice, Sam Klaver of Omaha, Herb Nore of Genoa and Irving Wiltse of Falls City.

F111 Called 'Safe Now'

Washington (AP) — The Air Force lifted flying curbs on its troubled F111 fighter Friday and a general declared "it's a safe airplane now."

Starting next month, some 140 to 150 F111s will undergo wing strengthening at the Fort Worth, Tex., plant of General Dynamics Corp. at a total cost of about $15 million. The government will pay about 75%, the Air Force said.

The latest problem with the F111, a plane burdened with problems since its birth as the TFX, centered around wing cracks.

Last October the Air Force restricted the amount of stress to which an F111 might be subjected in flight.

Now after eight months of tests, the Air Force said it has "gained added confidence in the structural soundness of the aircraft."

Maj. Gen. Otto J. Glaszer, an Air Force research and development official, said the trouble was in a key structural member in the wing called the carry-through box and amounted to a "series of very small things," such as bolts.

Glaszer, in saying the F111 is a safe plane now, also told newsmen the testing had pointed to a need for additional quality control. He did not blame General Dynamics.

House Approves Repeal Of Aid-To-Children Limits

Washington (AP) — The House voted Friday to repeal a freeze on the number of dependent children who may be aided by federally assisted state welfare programs.

A 269 to 65 roll call vote sent the measure to the Senate, which first advanced the plan, and where final approval is expected next week.

The controversial limitation, which never actually went into effect, was voted more than a year ago after members of Congress claimed the aid to dependent children program was getting out of control.

Welfare and liberal groups have opposed the limitation which Congress suspended for one year before it went into effect.

The freeze is scheduled to expire Monday. The Senate, after talk of another extension developed, voted the repeal as a rider to a minor House tariff bill.

Tokyo Still Growing

Tokyo (AP) — The largest city's population reached 11,454,858 on June 1, the metropolitan government announced, showing increases of 21,349 over May 1 and 135,017 over June 1, 1968.

Rocky Pulls A Boo-Boo

•The New York Times

Massena, N.Y. — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller pulled a boo-boo Friday, but President Nixon, a fellow Republican, came to the rescue.

In welcoming dignitaries to ceremonies marking the 10th anniversary of the St. Lawrence Seaway, Rockefeller included "Prime Minister and Mrs. Trudeau."

Evidently hearing scattered titters in the crowd from those who knew that 49-year-old Pierre Elliott Trudeau of Canada is a bachelor, the governor paused and looked over his shoulder at Trudeau with a sheepishly inquiring expression.

Trudeau made a genial gesture toward the crowd. A few minutes later Nixon interpreted the gesture.

Embellishing his remarks about the cordial relations between the two countries, Nixon added that Rockefeller "may have been prophetic when he presented Mrs. Trudeau. She might be out on the American side."

Notorious 'Tiger Woman' Found

Martinez, Calif. (UPI) — Winnie Ruth Judd, notorious trunk murderess of the 1930's, was captured Friday, seven years after she escaped for the seventh time from an Arizona mental hospital.

Seaway's Opening Marked

•The New York Times

Montreal — President Nixon flew here Friday to help commemorate the 10th anniversary of the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway and to salute the bonds between Canada and the United States.

Appearing first in Massena, N.Y., on the border between the two countries, Nixon joined Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau of Canada and other dignitaries from both nations on a platform constructed next to one of the many locks that dot the 2,300-mile thoroughfare and declared:

"Our frontiers are the frontiers of friendship; our ways are the ways of freedom; our works are the works of peace."

Responding in a more colloquial vein, Trudeau greeted his guest with a paraphrase from Robert Frost. "Good ditches make good neighbors," he said, motioning behind him to Dwight D. Eisenhower Lock. "And this is a truly marvelous ditch."

Mrs. Judd while investigating a still unsolved murder.

Winnie Ruth, now 65, became known to millions as the "Tiger Woman" when she was arrested in 1931 and convicted of killing two young women.

At a 7 o'clock ceremony on Friday evening, June 27, the marriage of Miss Cathy Dorenbach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Dorenbach, to Larry Whalen, son of Mrs. Lois Whalen of Omaha, took place at the Wesley Foundation Student Chapel on the University of Nebraska campus. The Rev. Duane Hutchinson solemnized the service and the wedding music was played by Miss Pam Wenzel.

Wide-brimmed garden hats completed the yellow dotted Swiss costumes chosen for the attendants, including Miss Joan Dorenbach, who was her sister's maid of honor, and bridesmaid Miss Cindy Sue Whalen of Omaha. Each carried a white fringed basket filled with yellow and white daisies.

William Phillips of Omaha served as best man, and the ushers were Rick Whalen of Omaha; Joseph Dorenbach, Frank Coffman and Roger Sattliff.

The bride chose a skimmer gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta for her wedding. The modified Empire bodice was fashioned with a high neckline of pearl-embroidered lace, and long, bell sleeves, and the pearl-embroidery motif was repeated on the court train which extended into cotillion length. A bandeau of pearl-dotted petals held to the head her shoulder-length veil of silk illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses and daisies.

Upon their return from a trip to Monterey, Calif., Mr. Whalen and his bride will reside at 802 N. 46th St., Apt. 4, in Omaha. Both the bride and bridegroom are students at the University of Nebraska.

The wedding of Miss Angela Rae Meyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Meyer of Panama, and Steven L. Weber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd W. Weber of Firth, took place on Friday evening, June 27, at the Firth Reformed Church. The lines of the 8 o'clock service were read by the Rev. Norman Menning and Mrs. Delmar Doeschot played the wedding music. David Kats of Lincoln was the vocal soloist.

Mrs. Robert Scott of Lincoln, the matron of honor, and Miss Barbara Ann Meyer, also of Lincoln and the maid of honor, wore long-skirted frocks of yellow brocade in the Empire mode. The mint green brocade frocks worn by bridesmaid Miss Susan Schroeder of Panama, and bridesmatrons, Mrs. Gary Wilhelm of Lincoln and Mrs. Randy Bowen of Kingsport, Tenn., were styled identically to the costumes worn by the matron of honor and the maid of honor. Each carried three long-stemmed yellow roses.

Douglas Weber served as best man, and the groomsmen and ushers were Lanny Remmers, William Lorenzen, Wayne Wilson, Rol TerMaat, Roger Meyer, both of Panama; Robert Scott of Lincoln and Cliff Weber of Avoca.

The bride appeared in a gown of silk organza over satin peau. Designed with a rounded neckline and Gibson sleeves, the Empire bodice was ornamented with embroidered lace which was repeated on the cuffed sleeves, and on the long, A-line skirt completed with a court train of silk organza, patterned with lace, which extended into an aisle-wide cotillion length train.

There is nothing quite like a gabfest to keep one up on what's going on around town — and we've been gabfesting.

Maybe you already know that the Class of '49 (1949 — that is), Lincoln High School, is having a reunion this weekend and that members of that class are pouring into Lincoln from all sections of the country.

Naturally we are interested in all class reunions, but this morning we are even more interested in a reunion within a reunion.

Twenty years ago at Lincoln High School there was a group of 12 exceedingly prominent young ladies who were very close friends and who banded together under the not too elegant name of "The Dirty Dozen". They are holding a reunion this weekend, too.

An amazing fact concerning the "Dirty Dozen" reunion is that eight of the 12 already have arrived in Lincoln — or will be coming early this morning.

The eight members of that memorable Dozen who will do considerable catching up on each other during the weekend, include Mrs. Arthur Johnson (Ann Mockett) of Franklin Lakes, N.J.; Mrs. Gene Gessner (Nancy Stebbins) of Iowa City, Iowa; Mrs. Bryce Crawford III (Catherine Corp), Mrs. Hugh Williams (Mary Jean Neely) both of Omaha; Mrs. Howard Jensen (Barbara Dillman) of Springfield, Mo.; Mrs. William Condon (Sandra Walt) of Sterling, Colo.; Mrs. Dan Lilly (Mizie Moyle) of Oklahoma City, Okla. and, of course, Mrs. Richard Moulton (Mary Margaret Loomis) who resides in Lincoln.

The remaining four members who will not be attending the reunion are Mrs. Donald Hall (Adele Coryell) of Kansas City, Mo.; Mrs. James Eden (Sheila Grainger) of Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. Richard Rosenthal (Sandra Lotman) of Dallas, Tex., and Mrs. Ron Steen (Ginny Noble) of Racine, Wis.

This morning those seven visiting — and one local member of that once-upon-a-time very popular Dirty Dozen group — and their mothers — will be honored at a coffee for which Mrs. Ellis Mockett will be hostess at her home, in courtesy to her daughter — Mrs. Arthur Johnson.

As we said in the beginning — the reunion of the class of 1949 is bringing people from east, west, north and south. The northwest is not to be overlooked, either — In town from Portland, Ore., is Hobart Jones who, with Mrs. Jones, is a guest at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Knox Jones.

All of the news we have of guests doesn't involve a class reunion, however. We learned this morning that Mr. and Mrs. Roger Stewart and their three children, Elaine, David and Peter, will be arriving from San Marina, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart will be in town only for the weekend before going on to New York City. The three young Stewarts, however, will remain in Lincoln as the houseguests of their grandmother, Mrs. Don W. Stewart.

But Mr. and Mrs. Stewart will return to join their children for another weekend in Lincoln before the family returns to California.

On Friday evening, June 27, the wedding of Miss Garland Louise Kiner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles K. Kiner, and Leo Joseph Eskey, son of Mrs. Hanora C. Eskey of Lincoln and Leo Joseph Eskey of San Francisco, took place at the Cathedral of the Risen Christ.

Mrs. Curt Kiner, the matron of honor, and bridesmatrons Mrs. Chris Wickham of Wayne; Mrs. Gary Pehrson and Mrs. Gary Steinke appeared in alike sleeveless frocks of pastel pink chiffon over taffeta designed in the Empire mode. Banded of pink petals held their brief pink veils, and their bouquets were of deep pink sweetheart roses and pompons.

Frank Eskey served his brother as best man, and the groomsmen and ushers include Curt Kiner, Chris Wickham of Wayne, Gary Pehrson, Gary Steinke and Michael Eskey.

A gown of white silk organza over taffeta was chosen by the bride for her wedding. The pearl embroidered Peau d'Ange lace which contoured the crescent neckline also banded the Medieval sleeves of the Empire bodice, and was repeated to ornament the A-line silhouette skirt and the cotillion train.

Upon their return from a honeymoon trip Mr. Eskey and his bride will reside at 3024 No. 63rd St., in Lincoln.

The bride is a former student at the University of Nebraska. Mr. Eskey was graduated from the University of Nebraska where he now is attending the College of Law.

Yellow chrysanthemums and white gladioli were arranged as a background for the wedding of Miss Georgia Kay Miller, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Miller and Andrew Miller, both of Lincoln, and Jerre L. Pritz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pritz, which took place on Friday evening, June 27, at the Calvary United Methodist Church. The Rev. Vernon Schroeder solemnized the 7 o'clock ceremony, and Dale Underwood played the wedding music.

The attendants, including Mrs. Robert Keller, the matron of honor, and bridesmaids Miss Janet Zieg of Omaha, and Miss Chris Freese, appeared in sleeveless, floor-length frocks of maize karate designed in the silhouette mode. Each carried a single yellow chrysanthemum.

Michael Clark served as best man, and seating the guests were Robert Keller, Robert Paddleford and Richard Bjorkman of Milbrae, Calif.

The A-line, skimmer gown chosen by the bride was fashioned of linen accented with Venice lace woven with ribbon. The interwoven motif created the wedding ring neckline and extended in a narrow panel to the hem of the floor-length skirt. A camelot cap of the lace and ribbon held in place her train-length veil which was bordered with the ribbon and lace.

Mr. Pritz and his bride will reside in Lincoln.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Nebraska.

Attendants Named

Announcing the attendants for her Saturday, July 26, marriage to Douglas Leslie Anderson, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Anderson, is Miss Phyllis Bowen of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis E. Bowen of St. James, Minn.

For the 2 o'clock ceremony Miss Bowen has named Mrs. John A. Doolittle, Memphis, Tenn., as her matron of honor and Miss Donna Johnson, Sioux Falls, S.D., will be the bridesmaid.

Gerald Nickell of Denton, will serve Mr. Anderson as best man and the groomsmen will be Robert Bruhl of Waverly, and Neil Tinggaard, Jr. Seating the guests will be James Murphy of Elkhorn and Larry Ludwig, White Bear Lake, Minn.

Nathan Winkelman and Wayne Winkelman, both of St. James, Minn., will light the chancel candles for the ceremony at the First Presbyterian Church in St. James.

Dinner Party Is A Farewell Courtesy

Mu Phi Epsilon alumnae, and their husbands, turned out in full force on Thursday evening to say goodbye to Mr. and Mrs. E. Shelden Hallett who are leaving Lincoln to reside in Scottsdale, Ariz.

The festive affair was a buffet dinner and informal evening at the home of Mu Phi patron and patroness, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hill, and following the dinner there was quite a ceremony which involved Mr. Hallett. He was made an honorary member of Mu Phi Epsilon as a reward for his undying allegiance to, and his patient efforts with regard to the alumnae of this professional music sorority in which Mrs. Hallett has been exceedingly active.

In the picture we find only about a third of the guest list but they are, standing left to right, Mrs. D. G. Barber, Leo Hill, Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Glenn Zajicek, Mrs. Virginia Duxbury, president of Mu Phi Epsilon Alumnae Club, Mrs. Lawrence Lindgren, Mrs. Henry C. Harper, Mrs. Dale Snook, Mrs. Dale Zikmund and Mrs. John Rei.

Seated are Mr. Hallett who has just been presented with the Mu Phi Triangle — and Mrs. Hallett, who was presented with a farewell gift.

Anniversary Is Festivity Incentive

The current weekend is a busy one for Mr. and Mrs. Mark S. Martin and the reason for all of the excitement is their 50th wedding anniversary which, officially, was Wednesday, June 25. There was a family dinner for which Mr. and Mrs. Martin were host and hostess at The Knolls that evening, but the real celebrating is during the current weekend with parties and guests galore.

This evening Mr. and Mrs. Martin's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Mark S. Martin, Jr., of Midland, Tex., and their sons-in-laws and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gorham and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Skinner, will be hosts and hostesses at dinner at the Legion Club in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Martin. Included in the guest list will be the grandchildren, including Rick Gorham, Kristy, Mark III (Chip) and Randy Martin of Midland, Tex., and the family of Mr. and Mrs. Skinner — daughter Judy, son James, and son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David Skinner and their son, Robbie.

Out of town guests will include Mrs. Martin's cousin, Mrs. Darrell McFerrer and Mr. McFerrer of Hastings; her brother, and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde J. Laher of Cheyenne, Wyo., and Mr. Martin's brother-in-law, Carlie Kindig, his daughters, Mrs. Dale Long and Mrs. Wallace Kiner, and his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Kindig and their daughter, Georgia, all of Denver.

On Sunday afternoon there will be a reception in honor of the golden anniversary, and it will be held at the First Federal Savings and Loan party room.

On Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Martin will be host and hostess at a buffet supper at their home as a finale to a merry weekend.

Abby: ask girl

DEAR ABBY: When my son was married about six months ago, I gave him my original wedding band to place on his bride's finger. (I have another one.)

The marriage lasted only a few months, a clean break has been made, and my son and the girl are not even on speaking terms. Since my son thought this was going to be a lasting marriage, the shock of its failure has caused him great emotional stress.

I would like to have my wedding ring back, but I do not want to ask my son to get it back for me.

Should I ask the girl myself? Or should I ask her mother? The ring can't possibly mean anything to the girl and it means a great deal to me. WONDERING: DEAR WONDERING: Ask the girl for the ring. You've nothing to lose.

DEAR ABBY: As you can see, this letter is signed "Miss Barbara." However, I am not a "female" in the true sense of the word. In fact, I am a woman "imprisoned" in a man's body. I have inquired about a sex change operation, but there is a long waiting list.

I hold down a man's job, but after work I don feminine attire and my whole life changes. I am now considering seeking employment as a female. I know I could easily pass for a woman as I am small and feminine looking and have had total electrolysis on my face, and my voice is more like a woman's than a man's.

My question: In filling out an application for employment, am I within my rights to write "CONFIDENTIAL" where it asks "SEX?" A lawyer friend of mine says I am. Will you advise, please?

"MISS BARBARA": DEAR "MISS BARBARA": Better check with another lawyer. And consider this. Even though you may be "within your rights" legally, whether you'd be hired with that kind of an answer is another question.

Opening lead — king of spades.

When declarer has two different courses of play open to him, both of which are dangerous, he can hardly do better than follow the indicated probabilities in choosing which line of play to pursue.

Take this hand where South is in four hearts. West leads the king of spades and East overtakes it with the ace and returns a spade. West wins South's nine with the ten and continues with a low spade.

It is obvious from both the bidding and play that East started with a doubleton spade. So South is forced to ruff in dummy with the jack as East discards a club.

The contract is clearly in jeopardy, and, so far as declarer is concerned, may even be beyond redemption, depending on how the unseen cards are divided.

Two methods of play are available, either of which may make the contract (if it can be made). One is to lead a trump to force out the ace, which West is almost sure to have, and hope East cannot overruff dummy when a spade is led again.

The other method is to play three rounds of clubs, hoping the suit was originally divided 3-3, in which case there is a very reasonable prospect of making the contract.

Of the two possibilities the better chance is to lead out the clubs. It is highly unlikely that East, who had only two spades to start with, also has only one heart. He is far more likely to have started with two hearts than one.

Accordingly, South plays three rounds of clubs, East ruffing the third club and South overruffing. Declarer now leads a heart and, as the cards lie, it does not matter whether West takes the ace or not.

If he does, South easily makes the rest of the tricks, whatever West returns. If West ducks the heart, South ruffs the jack of spades in dummy and coasts home with ten tricks.

Waiting Wives

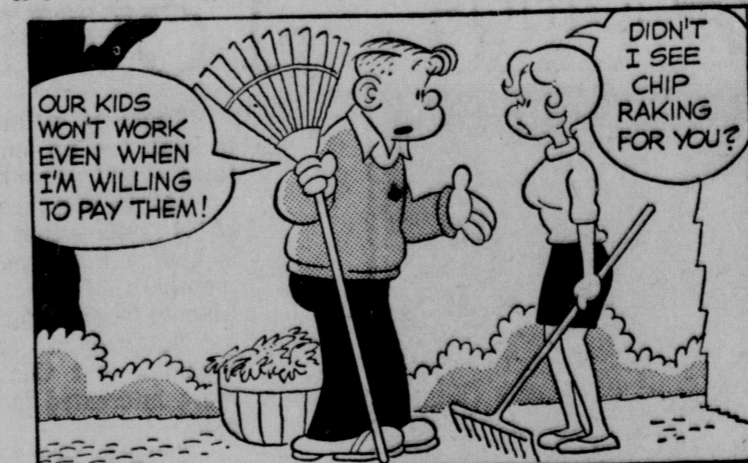

A meeting of the Military Waiting Wives is being planned for next Tuesday evening, July 1, at 7 o'clock. The hostess will be Mrs. John Caley, and the meeting will take place in her home at 644 Northborough Lane.

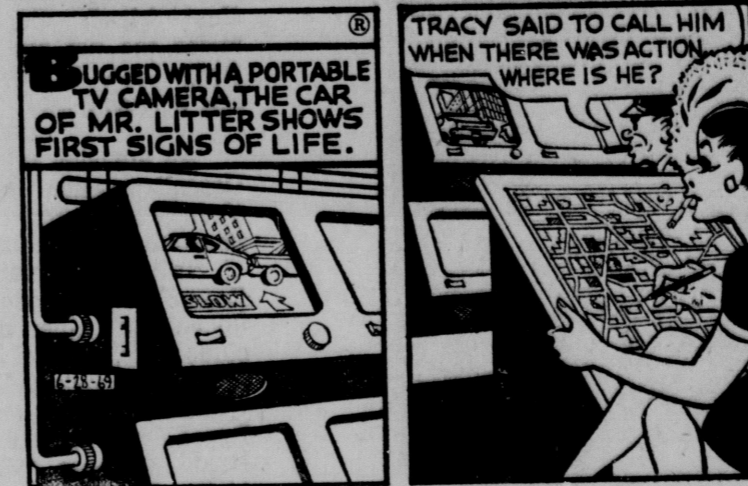

"No, really...you'd look great with sideburns."

"Can't I go to the store with you, Daddy? One kid alone won't bother you much."

DID YOU KNOW THIS? IT'S A FACT:

There are 69,062 private autos in Hong Kong. Fashion became the greatest enemy of birds in paradise. In the 1890s plumes sold for as much as $50 each in the millinery warts of Paris and Amsterdam. Gath, the ancient capital of Philistines, was the birthplace of the giant Goliath. The first European to sail Long Island Sound full length was the Dutch navigator Adriaen Block, who in 1614 negotiated the turbulent Hell Gate of the East River and emerged into the sound.

Galliano And Milk Make Namath A Special Person

©The New York Times

New York, June 26 — The other morning in Bachelors III, in the hours when most sensible people were sleeping, Joe Namath slouched at a small red-clothed table and raised a champagne glass with a frothy yellow concoction in it.

"What are you drinking now?" somebody asked him.

"This," said Namath, "is a Golden Cadillac. It's made with Galliano and milk and . . ."

"Milk?"

"Yeah," he said, grinning. "I might blow my image."

Not a chance. Joe Namath's image has been established from here to eternity. He's the sweat-soaked Sinatra. You don't have to like him, although almost all of those who know him do. You don't have to agree with him, and almost all of those who know him don't. But you discuss him constantly because he's one of sport's special people. He does his thing, for better or for worse, as he did again Thursday when his meeting with Pete Rozelle, the commissioner of pro football, failed to produce his surrender.

The special people don't surrender easily. And that's why they're special; because they're individuals, like Richie Allen, Pancho Gonzales, Bill Hartack, Jerry West, Gump Worsley, Lee Trevino and Muhammad Ali.

To some old-timers, baseball hasn't been the same since Rube Waddell stopped chasing fire-engines. To the Philadelphia Phillies, there is nothing amusing about Richie Allen's habit of ignoring the National League schedule. But in discussing their star slugger's absence from a double-header last Tuesday, a team official put him in the proper focus.

"He's not lost," the Phillies' official said. "He knows where he is."

The next evening, Pancho Gonzales knew where he was — on the center court at Wimbledon — but he too was in character as he stormed toward the locker room, trailing Charlie Pasarell, two sets to none in the London twilight. His lithe body doesn't look 41 years old, but his eyes are, and he needs the sun to see a tennis ball properly.

"He was so furious," said his second wife, Madelyn, whom he divorced but is now about to remarry, "that I had to play Backgammon with him until two in the morning to let him unwind."

The next day, Gonzales won the longest match in Wimbledon history, 112 games, after having survived seven match points, perhaps the most special match in this special athlete's special history. He should have been one of sport's most respected athletes, but when he was at his best, pro tennis players were gypsies, not royalty. Bill Hartack had no such excuse. As the jockey aboard five Kentucky Derby winners, he ordinarily would be revered. Instead, his rude manner has alienated those who could influence such reverence. Not that he seems to care, but that alone adds to his specialness.

Jerry West emerged as one of the special ones after the Los Angeles Lakers lost to the Boston Celtics in the National Basketball Association championship playoffs.

Asked whether he would prefer to play with Wilt Chamberlain, his towering teammate, or Bill Russell, the center of the consistently conquering Celtics, in one vital game, West immediately replied, "Russell." Diplomacy would have demanded that West choose Chamberlain, but diplomacy seldom is an ingredient of the special people. Like the time Gump Worsley, the goaltender of the Montreal Canadiens, was informed that the Stanley Cup would be filled with champagne.

"The hell with Champagne," Worsley snapped. "Fill it with whiskey."

Lee Trevino is that way, too. About a year ago, he settled into a soft leather chair in the executive dining room of the Faultless Rubber Company. As the 1968 United States Open champion, he was there to discuss a golf-ball endorsement contract. But when the chunky Texan of Mexican ancestry glanced at the menu, it was in French.

"I don't know what to order," Trevino said. "I can't read this thing."

"You're the first one," he was told, "who didn't try to bluff your way."

The special people don't bluff. They tell it like it is. And if Muhammad Ali should return, to join Joe Namath and Richie Allen and the others, there'll have to be more pages in the sports section.

Bravoria Under 131 In Gold Cup

Omaha — Bravoria will concede 15 or more pounds to eight rivals Saturday in the $40,000 added Ak-Sar-Ben Gold Cup Handicap.

Bravoria will be going for a fourth straight handicap triumph under L. J. Durosseau and 131 pounds. The three-year-old stand-out has captured the Ambassador Handicap at six furlongs and the His Majesty's Council and 4-H handicaps at a mile and 70 yards in his last three outings.

The imported Firm Hand, Rush Date, Happy Intellectual, Kem Jr. and Might figure to be the top challengers in the mile and one sixteenth chase for three-year-olds.

Cards, Orioles Take Openers

... CRUCIAL SERIES

By Associated Press

St. Louis and Baltimore won the opening games of two crucial series in major league baseball Friday.

St. Louis, the defending NL champions, whipped the Chicago Cubs 3-1. Baltimore downed Detroit, the AL and world champions, 4-1.

The series, which will continue through Sunday, are expected to determine whether the Cardinals and the Tigers can get back in the running this year.

Houston made it 10 in a row by defeating Atlanta 5-4 and Pittsburgh handed the New York Mets their third straight defeat 3-1.

In other games Cincinnati swept a twin bill from San Francisco 4-3 and 9-1. Philadelphia shaded Montreal 8-7, Cleveland took the New York Yankees 5-1. Boston defeated Washington 4-2. Kansas City edged Minnesota 9-8 and Oakland nipped the Chicago White Sox 1-0.

Kenny Holtzman of the Cubs retired the first 20 batters to face him, but then the Cards rallied and he not only lost a perfect game, but a no-hitter and the game as well.

Vada Pinson's two-out single in the seventh spoiled Holtzman's dreams and the Cards went ahead when Joe Torre followed with a single and Mike Shannon tripled.

Unbeaten Dave McNally of Baltimore threw a five-hitter against Detroit and won his 13th straight, including 11 this season.

Marty Martinez's two-out single in the ninth drove in the winning run for the Astros against the Braves. The Pirates held off a ninth inning threat by the Mets when Joe Gibbon replaced Steve Blass and retired the Mets with the tying runs on base.

Larry Hise drove in four runs with a homer and a single to pace the Phillies over the Expos. Pete Rose's homer in the opener and Bobby Tolan's blast in the second game led the Reds to their sweep over the Giants.

Sam McDowell struck out 12 Yankees, increasing his career total to 1,506 in becoming the 48th pitcher ever to fan 1,500 or more in the majors.

Bob Taylor's single with the bases loaded in the ninth and two out gave Kansas City its triumph over the Twins.

Oakland got only one hit for seven innings, but scored the lone run of the game in the eighth on an infield hit and a throwing error to edge the White Sox. The victory put the A's back on top in the AL's West Division.

Home runs by Al Ferrara and John Spin supported Joe Niekro's six-hit pitching as the San Diego Padres snapped an 11-game losing streak with a 5-0 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Softball Tournament Scheduled For Girls

The Capital City Girl's School Division District Tournament will be held Saturday and Sunday at Ballard Field with the top three teams moving on to the state Championships in Grand Island, July 4-6.

Opening round contests feature defending champ, Joy's Hits 'N' Runs taking on Garrett Construction at 11 a.m., Waverly meeting the Mustangs at 9:30 a.m., and the Randolph Merchants playing the winner of the Waverly-Mustang tilt at 12:30 p.m.

Larry's Luck Takes Change

... LIKE GRANATELLI

BY HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

In winning the Lincoln Men's City Golf Tournament Friday, Larry Romjue had to feel a little like Andy Granatelli when Mario Andretti won the Indianapolis 500 for him on Memorial Day.

Romjue went into the final day just as Andretti went into the final stages and hardly anything short of having the wheels come off could have kept either from winning.

Until this year, Romjue's success in golf tournaments had been akin to Granatelli's success at Indy — something always seemed to happen to cost them a shot at victory lane.

Romjue had to withdraw from the city tourney one year when his employer thought he shouldn't be playing golf and again last year, withdrawal was forced because of a back injury.

Then there was 1964 when Romjue went into the final day leading Charlie Borner by five strokes and had the wheels come off.

This year, the wheels came off everyone's game except Romjue's as runner-up Tim Bateman was 19 strokes over par with a 306, 14 strokes behind Larry's winning 292 total, five over par for the 72 holes.

Romjue easily mastered the field, firing the best round at each of the four courses although his one-over-par 73 for the final round Friday was matched by Chuck Smith, who sandwiched a pair of 87s between an opening 74 and a closing 73.

"It's true there were some good players missing from the tournament," Romjue admitted, referring to the absence of recent champions Charlie Borner, Matt Taber and R. B. Lau. "And it's not particularly impressive to win a tournament that could be won with a 302 or so."

"But I think 292 is a respectable score considering the conditions and I'm happy with it."

Those conditions Romjue was referring to were very high winds that plagued golfers the second day at Holmes Park and bothered somewhat Tuesday at Pioneer Park and again Friday at Hillcrest.

It was Romjue's two-over-par 74 in those high winds at Holmes that wrapped up the tourney for him.

"The last two rounds I just played for pars and tried to stay out of trouble," the sales representative analyzed.

He went two-over-par on the front nine Friday with bogeys at Nos. 5-7-9, birdieing only the 582-yard fourth hole with a four-foot putt.

But he came back with a one-under-par 35 on the back side with birdie putts of eight feet at both the 544-yard 11th and the 407-yard 17th with a bogey at the 200-yard 16th.

That 16th hole cost Ed Smith second place when he took a triple-bogey-6 after hitting a 2-iron into a tree behind the green on the par-3 hole.

Smith wound up in third with a 307 total while Scott Brunzell was fourth at 312 and Paul Anderson fifth at 313.

R. H. Lau won the seniors division with a 325 total, four strokes ahead of Ed Meisenholder as Emil Frank, the leader through the first three rounds, withdrew before play started Friday.

Royals Trim OC In 11 Innings, 5-4

Omaha, Neb. (P) — George Spriggs laced a single through the drawn-in Oklahoma City infield to score pinch runner Les Green in the 11th inning Friday night to hand Omaha a 5-4 American Association baseball victory.

Orlando Pena picked up the win for Omaha after giving up a two-run homer to Jack Warner with one out in the ninth to tie the game 4-4 and force the extra innings. Pat House, who pitched the last four innings, was given the loss.

'Second-Placer' Trying Harder

... NEW CAR HELPS

You have to try harder when you're in second place, Kenny Gritz believes.

Last year he was winner of the "B" attraction of the Grand National Super Modifieds Championship at Knoxville, Iowa. This year in an all new car, No. 12, he's been out every weekend, weather permitting, trying to better his time.

Last Saturday, he brought home the bacon as he won the "A" feature at Knoxville. He is the second Lincoln driver to win this coveted spot during the season.

Top drivers from various parts of the country take part in these races. The other driver to bring home the honor was Joe Saldana. A gallery of over 100 Lincolns was on hand to see Griz win.

"Every driver and car has a fine following," Griz said. "Knowing you have some good fans and well-wishers pulling for you helps a lot."

This is the fifth year Griz has been rounding the turns in Super Modifieds. He drove his own car until this year. Snyder Fiberglass Company sponsored his car for two years and this year Larry Snyder, Snyder Co. President, owns the car. It's an Edmunds Four Bar Sprint and runs a 350 Chevy block. He won last year with his C.A.E. Super Modified Chevy. "I still have the car and am keeping it ready just in case," he mused.

Gritz often races on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Besides driving at Eagle Raceways, he's on the road to Knoxville, Des Moines, Oskaloosa, Boone or Webster City, Iowa. He also races at El Centro, Calif., Fairmont, Minn., Topeka, and Beatrice. "I guess you could say I just like the feel of speed," Gritz said.

Pit helpers include Gary Schoenrock who works alongside Gritz every night on the car and Gritz's father-in-law, Bob Whitlock, who also assists.

"Racing has improved greatly since I've started driving. It's improved as far as competitors. Now you not only have to have a good car, but you also have to stand on the peddle at all times."

"It's more professional than it used to be. It used to take a few hundred to get in, now it takes a few thousand dollars. This upgrades the entire operation," Gritz said.

Eagle standings:

1. Beckman	1023	2. Brennforder	462
3. Saldana	774	7. Pardee	351
3. Jensen	755	8. Gritz	348
4. McCain	589	9. Reeder	318
5. Opperman	579	10. Lahodny	297

Coody's 64 Produces Four-Stroke Cushion

Cleveland, Ohio (P) — Charles Coody, a big, rangy Texan, fired a six-under-par 64 Friday and pulled away from the field in the second round of the $110,000 Cleveland Open Golf Tournament.

Coody, 31, a non-winner since 1964 but one of the hottest golfers on the tour in recent weeks, had a 36-hole total of 131, nine under par on the 6,661-yard Aurora Country Club course, and owned a commanding four-stroke lead over Bruce Crampton and John Schlee.

Crampton and Schlee each had a 66 for a 135 but were no match for Coody's course record-matching effort.

Two of the game's great names, Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, fashioned mild rallies after miserable starts, but were still well back.

Nicklaus had a 68 for a 141 while Palmer birdied his last three holes for a 69 and 143.

Orville Moody, the U.S. Open champion who shared the first-round lead, blew to a whopping 78 and just made the cut for the final two rounds at 145. Lee Trevino had a 74, also for 145.

It took the score of 145 to make the cut. Some of the more prominent casualties include former Master champions Bob Goalby, 152, and Gay Brewer, 146; and four champions of this season Dale Douglass, 146; Larry Hinson, 148, and Deane Beman, 152.

Coody, a 6-foot-2 veteran of six years on the tour, tied the low 36-hole score for the year and is a remarkable 17-under par for his last three rounds.

He finished second in last week's Kemper open with a final round 65, seven under par.

Powder Puff Entrants Hope For 'Lots Of Luck'

Counting on their flying experience, favorable winds and "lots of luck" in competition for the $5,000 Powder Puff Derby prize are Lincoln entrants Miss Evelyn Sedivy and Mrs. Maynard (Donna) Brummer.

The two women, planning on a Saturday morning departure for the transcontinental air race's starting point in San Diego, Calif., claimed they weren't nervous — "just excited."

Miss Sedivy, pilot of the green, black and white Cessna 172, and her co-pilot Mrs. Brummer, reported that they had not mapped out any strategy for winning the race.

"It depends primarily on the pilot's skill, on knowing her plane and what it can do," explained Miss Sedivy, an aerospace teacher in the Lincoln Public Schools.

"Winds are the most important factor," she declared. Pilots will have to determine the best winds to use in flight but still stay close to the designated route.

Contestants will leave San Diego on the Fourth of July and must have completed the course at Dulles International Airport in Washington, D.C. by sundown July 7.

The two who record the highest average speed over the pre-determined par speed of their particular aircraft will win the $5,000 first prize.

Prizes also are offered for speeds attained between various stops along the air race route. More than $400 in prizes will be awarded to top flyers on the Rock Springs, Wyo.-Kearney leg of the trip.

Miss Sedivy and Mrs. Brummer estimate that the trip will take 20-25 hours of flying time. The portion between Salt Lake City, Utah and Kearney will be the only familiar route to Miss Sedivy except for the Saturday flight to San Diego.

Flight time is recorded from the moment that the airport tower grants "permission to roll" for take-off to the instant that a plane passes a "fly-by" point at 200 feet at an airport before going into a landing pattern.

Sponsored by King's Food Host, the ladies will wear gold blazers with the restaurant chain's crest and brown culottes. They are not allowed to wear slacks during the race.

Lincoln Girl, 8, Is Treated For Possible Dose Of LSD

An 8-year-old Lincoln girl was released from St. Elizabeth Hospital Friday after being treated for what officials said might have been a dose of LSD.

Although reports of the incident differ, the girl's mother told The Star that the pills might have been obtained from a trash barrel in a neighbor's back yard.

Other reports indicated that the child might have obtained the pill from her aunt's purse.

According to the mother, the girl reported seeing "green and purple worms, and bubbles and all kinds of things," before she was taken to the hospital.

The mother also said that a hippie-type neighbor had told her that the pill swallowed by the girl was LSD. She said he gave her the name of a medication to counteract the effects of the drug and suggested the child be taken to a doctor.

Police said the entire incident was still "very unclear." The source of the pill had not been substantiated, they said.

Police did comment, however, that other pills had been turned in which were found at the scene and further investigation would be made pending a content analysis of them.

Proposed Ashland Dam Pushed By Spokesman

The proposed Platte River dam and reservoir near Ashland and its effect upon the future of eastern Nebraska and western Iowa was "talked up" Friday by a spokesman for the U.S. Corps of Engineers.

Ed Lawson, head of a study group for the dam, told the Kiwanis Club of Lincoln that the "huge natural gorge with limestone walls on either side" would provide flood control and sediment control, recreation facilities and an independent water supply which would meet the demands of the future.

It is difficult to estimate what our needs will be in the future, Lawson said, but he related that careful studies have indicated that the population in the dam's area would triple or quadruple within 100 years.

If constructed, the reservoir would cover about 100 square miles of water area, said Lawson. Plans include a main dam located on the Platte River and two secondary dams in the vicinity of Ashland.

Lawson pointed out that the project's completion could be as much as 30, 40, or even 50 years away and that its cost would be about $350 million.

At present, Lawson said, "we cannot offer the residential amenities that other areas can, because we have no ocean, no mountains or other attractions."

The dam could have the effect of making this area a great population center bigger than Denver or St. Louis, he said.

Wedding Vows Exchanged In Federal Court

A federal prisoner being held in Lincoln to face charges of fraud was married Friday in Federal Court.

Donald Eugene McGaughey, 38, of Kansas City, Mo., and Kathleen Caroline Moore, 22, of Kansas City, Kan., were married by U.S. District Judge Robert Van Pelt.

McGaughey will face fraud charges involving U.S. savings bonds, and warrants charging him with related crimes have been received from three other states.

The former Miss Moore, who was arrested with McGaughey, has been released on $500 bond.

Changes Are In Stock Market

New York (UPI) — The stock market finished at almost the same place it started out from Friday, after turning in a lackluster performance that saw many investors cautious and on the sidelines.

"There was the usual pre-weekend caution weighing on the market," an analyst said. Some investors don't like to get involved at the end of the week. They think something might happen over the weekend that would affect the market when it opens again Monday."

He added that many investors also remained concerned over the tight money situation.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off 2.13 at 1 p.m. EDT, but it turned after that, and at the close it was off .52 at 869.76.

A lead of better than 200 issues held by gains over losses was cut as trading progressed. Of 1,535 issues traded, 692 advanced, and 575 declined. New highs for the year totaled 5, and new lows 1966.

Volume totaled 9.02 million shares, compared with 10.30 million shares Thursday. The volume was the lowest since April 14 when 8.99 million shares were traded.

The Associated Press 60-stock average closed off 2.13 at 310.2, with industrials off .25, utilities off .14, and chemicals off .14. Blocks of 100,000 shares or more traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Commodities and metals were mixed. Wheat futures were off 1/4 cent to 1.25 1/2. Corn futures were off 1/4 cent to 1.25 1/2. Soybean futures were off 1/4 cent to 1.25 1/2. Slaughter lamb futures were off 1/4 cent to 1.25 1/2.

Hog Prices Steady, Up At Omaha

Omaha (UPI) — Butcher hog prices were fully steady with the extreme top 25 cents higher here Friday. Although supplies were light, trading slowed in the later stages. Sows were firm.

Most of the cattle run consisted of cows, these selling firm in a fairly active trade. Bulls were steady.

Slaughter lamb were nominal.

Hogs: 5,500; barrows and gilts steady to 25 higher, instances 50 higher; 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 year olds, 24.00-26.00; 2 1/2 to 3 year olds, 26.00-28.00; 3 1/2 to 4 year olds, 28.00-30.00; 4 1/2 to 5 year olds, 30.00-32.00; Ten Recreation Areas Okay For Fireworks

Legal fireworks will again be permitted on the Fourth of July at special sites in ten state recreation areas, State Game Commission Director Mel O. Steen announced Friday.

Steen said well-marked areas at which fireworks may be displayed between 8 a.m. and midnight on July 4 will be available at the following state recreation areas: Fremont, Louisville, Two Rivers, Lake Minatare, Bridgeport, Kearney County, Johnson

Lake, Bluestem Lake, Wagon Train Lake and Pawnee Lake.

"The purpose of establishing these areas is to afford people on family outings the opportunity to display their fireworks while they are on their outing," he said.

"If these areas attract the use of unlawful fireworks, we will have no choice but to drop this service in the future."

Holdrege Woman On Library Unit

The appointment of Mrs. Richard Aldrich of Holdrege to the State Public Library Commission for a five-year term was announced Friday by Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann.

Resolution Calls For Interim Look At Civil Service

A resolution calling for a legislative study of the possibility of setting up a civil service system for all county employees in the state was introduced in the Legislature Friday.

The resolution is sponsored by nine Omaha lawmakers.

A bill to create a civil service system for Douglas County employees was killed by the Legislature earlier this week.

The resolution calls for a study of the possibility of a merit system by the Legislature and a report back to the next session on the findings of the study committee.

Laborers And Contractors Announce New Agreement

By DAVE ZIMMERMAN
Star Staff Writer

Laborers union representatives and contractors announced Friday morning they had reached a contract agreement which gives the laborers pay raises totaling $1.75 over the next three years.

Of the dozen craft unions whose contracts expired June 1, only the teamsters remained.

The newest agreement was announced jointly by John Miller, president of the Lincoln Building Construction Employers Association (BCEA) and Leonard Shafer of Omaha, union business manager.

To $5.10

The new contract, effective as of last Monday, will boost the laborers' current $3.35 an hour, including fringe benefits, to $5.10 by 1972.

The first raise of 50 cents began Monday, to be followed by 10 cents Oct. 1, 1969; 50 cents April 1, 1970; 10 cents Oct. 1, 1970; and 55 cents April 1, 1970. The total increase to be reached in a two-year period includes 22½ cents in health and welfare and other fringe benefits.

Miller said negotiations had continued with the laborers

Thursday night before the agreement to announce the final settlement was made.

About 10%

In past labor disputes, teamsters have received an increase of about 10% more than laborers' contract terms, but Miller said "nothing has stirred" to date between contractors and teamsters.

Future meetings would be required before an agreement could be made, he said.

Meanwhile, construction progress was slowly picking up throughout Lincoln, although most contractors said jobs were running two or three months behind scheduled deadlines.

One spokesman said, however, that most building contracts included an equity time adjustment for work lags caused by strikes.

Days Lost

Ken Dodge of the Olson Construction Co. said that due to extra delays which crop up after a strike is finally settled, about 1½ working days were lost for each day workers were on strike.

These delays were caused by the time needed for men to return to Lincoln after having worked out-of-town during the strike period and a general scarcity of workers and supplies, he said.

Other contractor spokesmen noted that another setback which concerns the economic feasibility of any building project is the continuing cost of storage, equipment rental, supervisory staffs and general overhead expenses during a work stoppage.

Carpenter To Seek Revival Of Measure

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff served notice Friday he will seek to revive a constitutional amendment bill which failed on final reading last Tuesday.

The measure, LB353, would re-submit to voters a constitutional amendment turned down last November, authorizing the Legislature to establish public corporations for the generation, transmission or sale of electricity.

The bill needed 30 approving votes on final reading but got only 26.

Action on Carpenter's reconsideration motion was deferred until after the Fourth of July recess.

In another late development Friday, Sen. Lester Harsh of McCook advised that he will attempt later to reduce by $4 million the University of Nebraska's portion of the capital construction budget for the next two years.

Harsh said, however, he will also propose that NU regents be authorized to make the decision on where the NU money will be spent.

The capital construction bill, LB1425, came out of the Budget Committee with recommendations totaling $14.3 million. The Legislature Tuesday added $11.4 million to the total, including an additional $10.5 million for the university.

R. R. Winders Dies At 80; Rites Monday

Rexford R. Winders of 230 Lakewood Drive, a co-owner of Winders and Geist, Inc., died Friday at the age of 80. Services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at Roper and Sons' Mortuary, 4300 O.

The company at 1821 Yolande markets internationally a rubber floor conduit which Mr. Winders and Alex M. Geist patented. It also handles the Nebraska franchise for Goodyear's underground sprinkling systems.

Mr. Winders was a retired Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Co. employe and a member of the Telephone Company Pioneers Association.

A native Nebraskan, Mr. Winders is a lifetime resident of the state and a Lincoln resident of about 60 years.

He is also a member of Northeast Community Church and Elks Lodge No. 80.

Survivors include his wife, Bernece; sons, George of Casper, Wyo., Rolland of Lincoln, Lysle of Cheyenne, Wyo., LeRoy of Honolulu and Rodney of Denver; sister, Mrs. Ida Rose of Minden; 10 grandchildren, and five great-grandchildren.

Schwartzkopf Pleased By City Sales Tax Bill

Lincoln Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf said Friday he was extremely pleased by the Legislature's passage of LB578, which enables Lincoln and other cities to levy a sales tax to solve financial problems.

Mayor Schwartzkopf added, though, he doubted that the city would resort to levying the sales tax to raise money for the upcoming fiscal year.

He said that the financial condition of the city would likely determine when and if he will recommend that a city sales tax be instituted.

Would Reduce Levy

Levying a sales tax could reduce the amount of property taxes a person would have to pay to finance the city's budget.

Taxpayers paid $29.75 per $1,000 of assessed valuation to pay for the city budget during the current fiscal year.

Council members must adopt the budget for the 1969-70 fiscal year Aug. 26.

Historically Up

City Finance Director James Mallon noted that the city's budget and mill levy have historically gone up each year.

The mill levy during the 1960-61 fiscal year was 17.80 as compared to the current levy of 29.75.

Mallon said a hold-the-line budget next year with a 1% sales tax would likely require a mill levy similar to that during 1960-61.

Schwartzkopf said passage of the bill is an indication that "the Legislature is aware of the increasing urban needs and challenges of Lincoln and other cities."

City officials have said they would have preferred that the state increase the state sales tax and return a portion to the cities.

Highway Bills

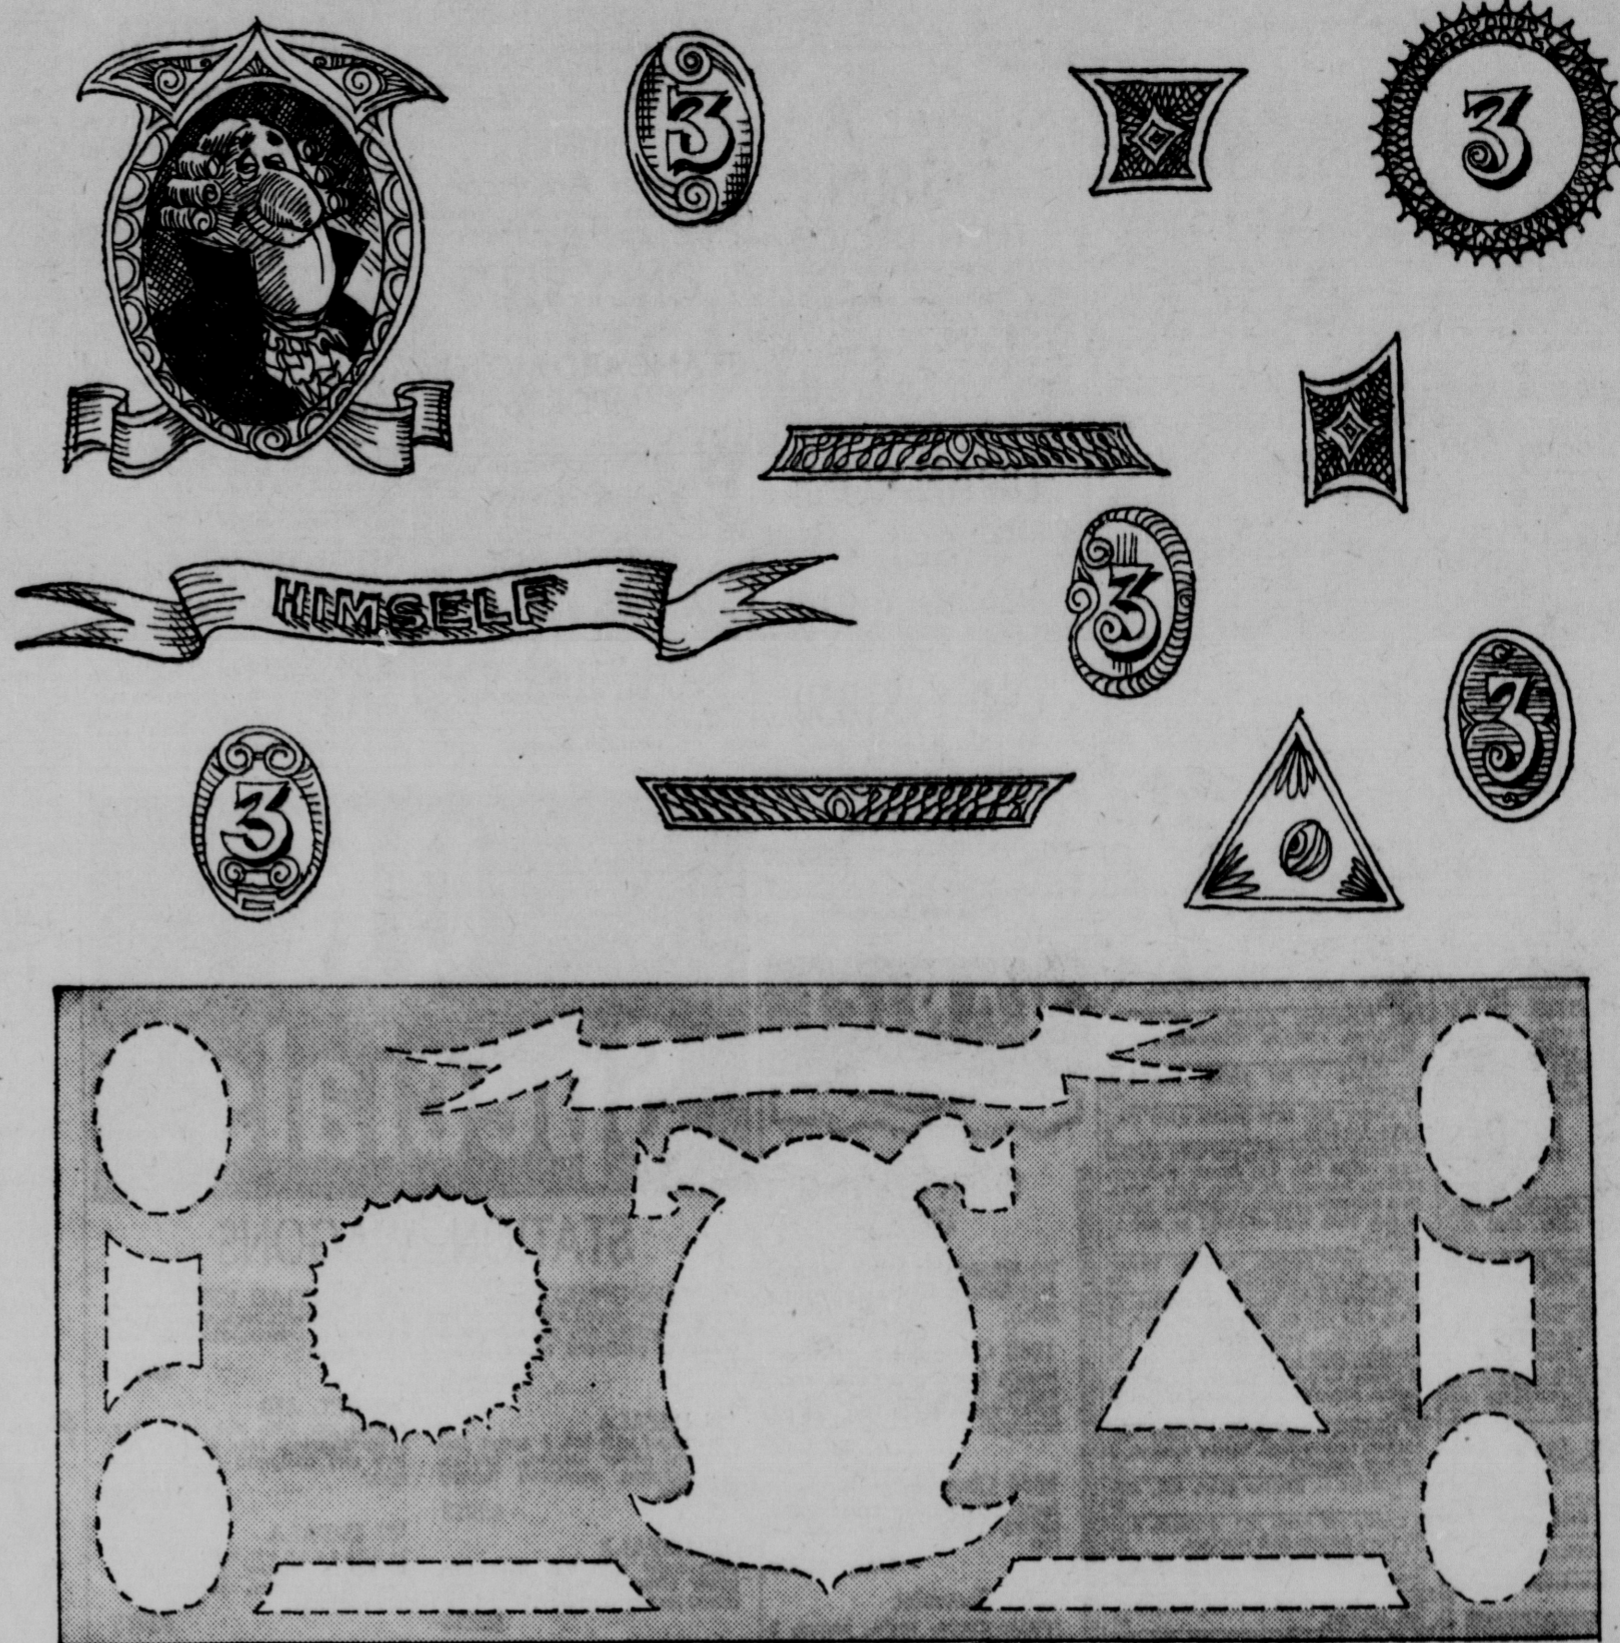

The mayor said he was also hopeful that the Legislature's spirit of cooperation and perception would be evident when the legislation on highway funds is ready for decision.

The highway revenue legislation provides for increased state revenue for street improvement.

Also included among the highway bills is one that reimburses Lincoln for upkeep of state highways. The city presently does not receive any funds for upkeep of the state highways within the city limits.
